Preface.....	vii
Tributes for Eli Grushka.....	ix
Contributors.....	xvii
Chapter 1 A Study of Peak Capacity Optimization in One-Dimensional Gradient Elution Reversed-Phase Chromatography: A Memorial to Eli Grushka.....	1
Peter W. Carr and Dwight R. Stoll
Chapter 2 Laser Applications in Chromatography.....	23
Anneli Kruve and Israel Schechter
Chapter 3 Hafnia and Zirconia Chromatographic Materials for the Enrichment of Phosphorylated Peptides.....	51
Stefan Vujcic, Lisandra Santiago-Capeles, Karina M. Tirado-González, Amaris C. Borges-Muñoz, and Luis A. Colón
Chapter 4 Making Top–Down Sequencing of All/Any Proteins a Reality. How Might This Be Accomplished?.....	69
Ira S. Krull and Jared R. Auclair
Chapter 5 Is the Number of Peaks in a Chromatogram Always Less Than the Peak Capacity? A Study in Memory of Eli Grushka.....	87
Joe M. Davis and Mark R. Schure
Chapter 6 Advances in Organic Polymer-Based Monolithic Columns for Liquid Phase Separation Techniques.....	105
Ziad El Rassi
Chapter 7 Solid-Core or Fully Porous Columns in Ultra High-Performance Liquid Chromatography—Which Way to Go for Better Efficiency of the Separation?.....	185
Shulamit Levin

Chapter 8 Inverse Size-Exclusion Chromatography .....205
Annamária Sepsey, Ivett Bacskay, and Attila Felinger

Chapter 9 Studies on the Antioxidant Activity of Foods and Food
 Ingredients by Thin-Layer Chromatography–Direct
 Bioautography with 2,2'-Diphenyl-1-Picrylhydrazyl Radical
 (DPPH*) .....229
Joseph Sherma

Index .....245
