assistance, Gabriella Fox helped with research. Stephanie Frow gave us a hand with coding and systems, and, of course, Roberta Schiralli at Brill assisted us with securing imaging rights. Rachel Donohue, Doreen and Peter Angelinas helped set up a database of early stage. At Brill, we are especially grateful to Mark H. ... and Rosanna Whensdregt for shepherding the book through the production process. We want to warmly thank our reviewers, whose comments were invaluable in shaping the final version of this text.

Daniel Margócsy would like to thank Anna Civilik and Emil and Lily Margócsy for traveling across the globe in pursuit of Fabrício, and his parents, Edit and István Margócsy, for support and research help. He is grateful for the support of his colleagues at the Department of History at Hunter College—City University of New York, and, now, at the University of Cambridge's Department of History and Philosophy of Science. He also wishes to acknowledge the support of the 2021–2022 Research Award (18AD1–47–268), the American Philosophical Society, and the publication support of the Department of History and Philosophy of Science at the University of Cambridge. A part of this volume was written while Daniel enjoyed the hospitality of the Center for the History of Science at the University of Cambridge. Daniel would like to thank his wife, Markéta Klecova, and their children, Zuzana, Klára, and Emma Eva Melka Soková. He is grateful to the British School at home, the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, and the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law in Heidelberg for their financial and cognitive support. Daniel would like to thank his wife Sandra Joffe and his children, Gray and Heidi. The authors would like to thank the following individuals for their assistance: ... and ...
