

| | | |
|---------------------|----|--|
| ■ IN BRIEF | 11 | Progress for climate talks; a setback for Obamacare |
| ■ AGENDA | 12 | Reading U.S. jobs tea leaves; escape to Mar-a-Lago |
| ■ VIEW | 12 | Britain's voters should get a Brexit redo |
| ■ REMARKS | 14 | The yellow vests leave Emmanuel Macron feeling blue |
| 1 BUSINESS | 19 | Lyft hopes to win riders by pampering drivers |
| | |  |
| | 21 | Lion Air's deadly crash sparks a costly blame game |
| | 22 | Can new owners reinvent the 134-year-old Breitling? |
| 2 TECHNOLOGY | 24 | Van by van, Amazon is building its own FedEx |
| | 26 | DoorDash delivers fresh competition to GrubHub |
| | 28 | Jeffrey Katzenberg's really small idea |
| 3 FINANCE | 31 | A Malaysian cloud follows Lloyd Blankfein into retirement |
| | 33 | Getting the most from your tax cut—100 years from now |
| | 34 | Take a closer look at stocks in your ESG funds |
| 4 ECONOMICS | 36 | The bear market might be a load of bull |
| | 38 | For Italy, the euro has been a mixed blessing |
| | 39 | The uncommonly resilient common currency turns 20 |
| 5 POLITICS | 40 | Amtrak's coming climate change crisis |
| | 42 | Latin America's not-so-rightward march |
| | 44 | In Sri Lanka, the civil war ended—but not the drama |
| ■ PURSUITS | 73 | Six great getaways you can feel good about going to |
| | 75 | Meet the golf ambassadors of the Congaree club |
| | 76 | African luxury, ethically sourced |
| | 77 | Gabriela Hearst's sustainable design |
| | 78 | Serving superb meals to support refugees and vets |
| | 79 | A beautiful wristwatch for the blind |
| ■ LAST THING | 80 | It was a bad year to invest, even in the alternate universe |

CORRECTIONS

1. The item on BTS (The Bloomberg 50, Dec. 10) incorrectly identified the band members. From left to right, the names should have read: J-Hope, V, Jimin, Suga, Jin, Jungkook, and RM.

2. "The Cost of Bribery" (Pursuits, Dec. 17) should have mentioned Volvo, not Volvo Cars, among the companies that "paid kickbacks to Saddam Hussein."

GOOD BUSINESS

47

Purple Mountain Majesties

Can West Virginia turn coal mines into lavender farms?

50

The Mavericks' Rookie of the Year

Cynthia Marshall got right to work fixing the #MeToo mess in Dallas

54

Quest for a Moral Diamond

A 709-carat diamond might reshape a problem-plagued industry

62

Eat What You Don't Kill

The venture capitalist trying to make vegan food mainstream

68

Money and the Matriarchy

The Wing tries to build a co-working paradise for women