

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Contributors	ix-x
S. J. Hannahs & Mike Davenport
Introduction	xi-xii
Judith M. Broadbent
A new approach to the representation of coronal segments	1-25
Helga Humbert
On non-occurring structures	27-53
Nancy A. Ritter
The effect of intrasegmental licensing conditions on elemental spreading	55-74
Jenny Zhijie Wang
A monovalent feature geometry for Mandarin consonants and vowels	75-93
Harry van der Hulst
Issues in foot typology	95-127

Iggy Roca & H.M. Al-Ageli

Optimal metrics

129–150

Toyomi Takahashi

Constraint interaction in Aranda stress

151–181

Michael L. Mazzola

On the independence of suprasegmental constituency

183–195

Marc van Oostendorp

Italian s-voicing and the structure of the phonological word

197–214

Yolanda Rivera-Castillo

A prosodically-based model of phonological domains and the phonology–syntax connection

215–249

Irene Vogel

Subminimal constituents in prosodic phonology

251–269

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication
 International Workshop on Phonological Theory (1999 : University of Durham)
 Issues in phonological structure / International Workshop, edited by S. J. Hannahs,
 Mike Davenport.
 A new approach to the representation of coronal segments
 Edited by S. J. Hannahs and Mike Davenport.
 On non-occurring structures
 Comparative and general phonology - Congress. 1. Hannahs, S. J. II. Davenport,
 Mike. III. Title. IV. Series.
 Nancy A. Ritter
 The effect of intrasentential licensing conditions on element spreading
 CIP

© 1999 – John Benjamins B.V.
 No part of this book may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior written permission of the publisher.
 John Benjamins Publishing Co. • P.O. Box 13300 • Amsterdam, AN • The Netherlands
 John Benjamins North America • P.O. Box 13300 • Philadelphia, PA 19118-0300 • USA
 Harty van der Hulst
 Issues in foot typology
 95–127