

INDEX

Introduction

First Chapter

The European Court of Human Rights: language and translation considerations

1.1. The institutional context of the European Court of Human Rights .....	13
1.2. Linguistic regime at the European Court of Human Rights .....	15
1.3. English as a lingua franca of human rights? .....	20

Second Chapter

Written pleadings at the ECtHR as a legal genre

2.1. Legal genres at the ECtHR .....	29
2.2. Written pleadings: genre placement .....	38
2.3. Communicative purpose, participants and structure of written pleadings .....	44

Third Chapter

Materials and methodology

3.1. Three-Part Corpus of written pleadings .....	49
3.2. Theoretical and methodological framework of legal phraseology .....	55

Fourth Chapter

Structure and text-organising patterns of written pleadings

4.1. Beginning of the pleadings and opening statements .....	62
4.2. Closing formulae .....	69
4.3. The body part of written pleadings .....	74

Fifth Chapter

Conclusions

Bibliography