

Contents

List of figures vii

Foreword xiii

Acknowledgments xix

Chapter 1	Mapping and mapmaking	1
Chapter 2	Medical mapping: Early histories	15
Chapter 3	Mapping and statistics: 1830–1849	41
Chapter 4	John Snow: The London epidemics	75
Chapter 5	The cholera debate	105
Chapter 6	Map as intent: Variations on John Snow	129
Chapter 7	Mapping legacy	157
Chapter 8	Public health: The divorce	193
Chapter 9	Disease ecologies: Disease atlases	215
Chapter 10	Complex processes: Diffusion and structure	249
Chapter 11	GIS and medical mapping	283
Chapter 12	Map thinking: An afterword	327

References 337

Index 357