

CONTENTS

Eight pages of illustrations will be found following page 180.

Introduction to the 2001 Edition ix

Introduction to the Morningside Edition (1982) xxxv

Acknowledgments xli

Prologue: Summer 1940 3

I / The French Quest for Collaboration, 1940–1942 51

Pierre Laval and the Paris Connection 63

The "New Policy," September–December 1940 69

The Meaning of December 13 92

The Cold Shoulder: Flandin and Darlan 101

Darlan's Grand Design 109

Darlan's Fall and Laval's Return: April 1942 131

II / The National Revolution 136

Competing Visions 139

An Answer to Decadence 146

Moral Order: The Church 148

Moral Order: Education and the Young 153

Moral Order: The Family 165

France for the French	168
The State: Liberty and Authority	185
Return to the Soil	200
Escape from Class and Competition: Corporatism in Power	210
From Persuasion to Constraint: The Emerging Police State	221
The National Revolution and Fascism	228

III / The Collaborators 234

Ins, Outs, and Notables	241
The French Civil War: 1934–37	243
The Revenge of the Minorities	249
Experts	259
Traditionalists	268
The Left at Vichy	273

IV / Collaboration—1942–44:

Between Liberation and Revolution 280

Threats to the Social Order—1: Resistance	291
Threats to the Social Order—2: Second Front	299
Last French Bids for Collaboration: 1942–43	309
1944: The Dream of Peaceful Transition, the Nightmare of Civil War	326

V / A Balance Sheet: The Legacy of Vichy 330

Breaks and Continuities	330
Vichy and French Society	352
Was Vichy a Lesser Evil?	357
Profits and Losses	374
A Moral Balance Sheet	380
Appendix A: The War Question of January 1942	387
Appendix B: Glossary of French and German Abbreviations	391
Bibliographical Note	392
Index	417