

Contents

List of tables	page xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Note of Spanish-language documents	xv
List of abbreviations	xvii
Glossary	xix
Genealogical tables	xxiv
Introduction	1
Valladolid, Pentecost Sunday, 29 May 1605: 'Protector generall and Advocate of all the world'
1 The Sandoval family and the crown of Castile	15
The Sandoval family 1412–1574: Deprivation and recovery Francisco Gómez de Sandoval y Rojas, fifth Marquis of Denia (1574–99)
2 The accession of Philip III	32
The legacy of Philip II Government: ministers, councils and juntas Prince, courtiers and ministers The household of the heir The death of Philip II, 13 September 1598 King and valido : 'All the affairs of state and war' The Marquis of Denia, 13 September 1598
3 The establishment of the valimiento, 1598–1601	54
The seizure of power, September 1598–January 1599 The royal marriage journey, January–October 1599 Duke of Lerma, 11 November 1599 Court and capital: preparations for the removal to Valladolid, 1600 The removal of the court to Valladolid, March 1601

- 4 The court in Valladolid, 1601–06: the years of the golden keys 79
 King, Queen and Duke
 The Duke and his city
 Lerma at fifty: the public face and the view of self
 The first challenge: the Marchioness del Valle, 1603–04
 The journey to Valencia and the dukedom of Cea
 Return of the court to Madrid
- 5 Government and policymaking: the apogee of power, 1598–1606 104
 Men and offices
 The Councils of Finance and State
- 6 Humiliation, 1606–07 134
 Disaster: the treasure fleets of 1605–06 and the arrest of Villalonga
 Retirement – or survival?
 The second settlement of the Lerma estates: the agreements of 1607 with the Duke of Cea
 Bankruptcy, 9 November 1607
- 7 Flight: the journeys of 1608–10 and the death of Henry IV of France 149
 ‘They ... call him traitor’
 The Twelve Years Truce and the road back to war
 The attack of the Admiral of Aragon
 The verdict on Villalonga
 The third dukedom: Uceda, 1609–10
 The journey of 1610 and the assassination of Henry IV of France
- 8 Survival: death of the Queen and Lerma’s ‘other course’, 1611–13 165
 Restoration of Spanish primacy in Europe?
 The confessor’s attack and the death of the Queen
 Fray Luis de Aliaga, the decree of 23 October 1612 and the return of Calderón
 The sons of the Duke of Savoy

CONTENTS

ix

9 Retreat – and the erosion of authority	184
Ambition, 1613: a cardinal's robes and the great building programme in Madrid and Lerma
The French marriage journey and the decision to retire from the valimiento , 1615–16
Government and policymaking; the erosion of Lerma's authority
10 Cardinal-Duke	215
Disengagement: the collapse of Lerma's authority, 1616–17
Lerma: the Testament, 12 June 1617
Climax, October 1617: 'the happiest, most famous and celebrated fiestas that the world has seen'
Cardinal-Duke, 1618
11 The end of the Sandoval hegemony and the deaths of Lerma and Uceda	241
Philip III and the abolition of the valimiento
Philip IV and the new valimiento
Lerma and Uceda: decline, testaments and death
Conclusion	265
Appendices	269
Appendix I: Aristocratic income 1501–1624: an indicative table based upon contemporary estimates
Appendix II: The Duke of Lerma: religious foundations
Appendix III: The Duke of Lerma: revenues, 1597–1625
Select bibliography	279
Index	294