

Contents

Acknowledgments	7
Preface: Imagine a Workshop on Evocative Autoethnography	9
Part One: Origins and History
Session One: Coming to Autoethnography	15
Session Two: The Rise of Autoethnography	43
Part Two: Composing Evocative Stories
Session Three: Crafting Evocative Autoethnography	75
Session Four: Thinking with “Maternal Connections”	121
Part Three: Ethical Dilemmas and Ethnographic Choices
Session Five: Ethical Challenges	137
Session Six: Ethnographic Alternatives	163
Part Four: Narrative Truth: Meanings in Motion
Session Seven: Thinking with “Bird on the Wire”	217
Session Eight: Reflecting on Truth and Memory Work	235
Coda: Restoring Harmony, by Csaba Osvath and Erica Newport	257
Appendixes
A. Maternal Connections	271
B. Groaning from the Soul	275
C. Bird on the Wire	281
Notes	293
References	295
Index	315
About the Authors	331