

Contents

List of contributors	ix
Preface	xi
HEE-YEON CHO, LAWRENCE SURENDRA, AND HYO-JE CHO
1 The structure of the South Korean developmental regime and its transformation: an analysis of the developmental regime of statist mobilization and authoritarian integration in the anticommunist regimentation	1
HEE-YEON CHO
2 Gender inequality and patriarchal order recontextualized	18
UHN CHO
3 Regionalism: its origins and substance with competition and exclusion	28
WANG-BAE KIM
4 Economic development and women's status in Korea	41
MEE-HAE KONG
5 Social class and income inequality in Korea	51
KWANG-YEONG SHIN
6 Changes in social movements in the post-dictatorship context in South Korea – focused on three dimensions	62
HEE-YEON CHO
7 Growth and crisis of the Korean citizens' movement	85
DONG-CHOON KIM

8	Two concepts of human rights in contemporary Korea	96
	HYO-JE CHO
9	A frame analysis of women's policies of Korean government and women's movements in the 1980s and 1990s	107
	KYOUNGHEE KIM
10	The netizen movement: a new wave in the social movements of Korea	123
	JINSUN LEE
11	Corruption in government-business relations in Republic of Korea	143
	RAJIV NARAYAN
12	The environmental movement in South Korea	157
	SUNGBOK YUN
13	South Korea – the “making” of a working class in a newly industrialized country	170
	JOHN MINNS
14	Neoliberal globalization and labor relations in Korea	183
	BYOUNG-HOON LEE
15	Labor movements in democratized Korea: an old or new social movement?	197
	YOONKYUNG LEE
16	Mobilizing public opinion for/against foreign labor policies in Korea, 1995–2005: NGOs, trade unions, and employers' associations in contested terrain	209
	DONG-HOON SEOL
	Index	221