

■ IN BRIEF	5	Socially conscious CEOs; Jeffrey Epstein; a dead glacier
■ AGENDA	6	Trump in Europe; German elections; the U.S. jobless rate
■ OPINION	6	The EU could make Italy's political crisis even worse
■ REMARKS	8	The yield curve signals recession. But maybe not this time
1 BUSINESS	12 14	Cathay Pacific learns not to annoy China, the hard way Live PD , A&E's hottest weapon in the war on streaming
2 TECHNOLOGY	16	When your child has a life-threatening disease, the cure costs $2 million-plus, and you're not covered
3 FINANCE	20 22	The retired and well-off just aren't spending enough Michael Hasenstab's $115 billion bet on rising rates
4 ECONOMICS	25	▼ Hong Kong youth: Mad as hell and not taking it anymore

	27	A housing crisis fix Hong Kong billionaires won't like
	29	Germany usually isn't pro-stimulus, but desperate times...
5 POLITICS	30 32 34	At the G-7 summit, multilateralism won't rule as it once did Democrats vs. the health-care industry. Guess who'll win The paraphernalia of modern protests isn't all digital
+ SOLUTIONS	36 38 39	Orthodontists aren't smiling about this fixer of smiles Swapfiets has big dreams for its worry-free-biking model Furniture you'll never want to throw away
■ PURSUITS	58 61 62 64 65 66	Ralph & Russo takes high fashion back to the olden days Sapphire, the last word in a luxury watch face What a busy summer Virgil Abloh is having The definitive answer to how long your pants should be Love the Kelly tote? Wait till you see the new one Noah menswear is one part preppy, one part punk
■ LAST THING	68	Parker-Hannifin: Little-known, but on an M&A rampage

FEATURES

40

Troubled Waters

LaCroix became a market darling, but its aisle's getting awfully crowded

46

Can the Athletic Win Big?

The digital sports-news service doesn't lack for subscribers—just for profits

50

Battle of the Bogus Burgers

Beyond Meat and Impossible Foods duke it out to dominate faux beef