

■ IN BRIEF	4	Boris is rebuked; C-suite heads are rolling; Greta speaks
■ AGENDA	6	Auto sales figures; India sets rates; Simone Biles returns
■ OPINION	6	Go ahead, give Meatless Monday a try
■ REMARKS	8	The perils of doing business in Poland
1 BUSINESS	12 14	Facing a doctor shortage, Chinese hospitals turn to apps Shame on you, frequent flyers
2 TECHNOLOGY	16 17 19	Nobody's more upset about WeWork than Masayoshi Son At long last, you can recycle that yogurt container Bringing Uber to the favelas
3 FINANCE	22 23 24	Don't ask for whom the bell tolls, bond traders Reinsurance is brutal—unless you're Buffett Finally, a quick train from Vegas to L.A. (almost)
4 ECONOMICS	26 27 29	Eastern Europe's love-hate relationship with immigrants China isn't getting on the stimulus bandwagon Trump targets Airbus—and Alabama suffers
5 POLITICS	30	▼ The day the U.K. stands still? We journey to the future for on-the-ground accounts of a no-deal Brexit

+ SOLUTIONS	38 39 40	What's popping in retail To deal with labor laws, French stores do without labor The company that recycles H&M's fast fashions
■ PURSUITS	59 62 64 65 66 67	Kanoa Igarashi, Japan's surfing sensation Time-traveling in a Ferrari F8 Tributo Putting the best skin-care serums to the test David Cameron wants a legacy beyond Brexit The high-tech way to pick grapes Loaf luxuriously in sumptuous silk jammies
■ LAST THING	68	Is there a better measure of economic growth?

FEATURES

- 42 Is Big Data the Secret Sauce?
Steve Easterbrook is remaking McDonald's for the age of code
- 48 The Anti-Krugman Libertarians on the High Seas
Anarcho-capitalists who hate a certain economist, this is the vacation for you
- 52 Populism, Mongolian Style
President Battulga Khaltmaa brings Trumpian tendencies to the steppes