

Contents

- List of figures xx
- List of tables xxvii
- Preface xxviii
- Acknowledgements xxxii

- Part I Introduction to destination management and marketing concepts and roles 1

- 1 The concepts of destination management and marketing 3

 - Learning objectives 3
 - Introduction 4
 - Defining a tourism destination 4
 - Destination management and marketing overview 5

 - Destination management 5
 - Destination marketing 9

 - Destination management roles 10

 - Leadership and coordination 10
 - Planning and research 11
 - Product development 13
 - Marketing and promotion 16
 - Partnership and team-building 16
 - Community relations 18

 - The 10 As of successful destinations 19
 - Uniqueness of destination management and marketing 21

 - The lack of control over the quality and quantity of services and products 21
 - The lack of a pricing function 21
 - The need to serve the requirements of the organizations 22
 - The need to build consensus among stakeholders 22
 - The need to be sensitive to the interests of local residents 22
 - The need to demonstrate broad economic benefits 22
 - The difficulty in measuring performance 22

 - Stakeholders in destination management 23
 - Destination governance 24

Contents

Destination management organizations	24
National destination management organizations	26
State, provincial and territorial destination management organizations	29
Regional destination management organizations	30
County and city destination management organizations	32
Careers in destination management and destination marketing	33
Summary	34
Review questions	35
References	35
2 Destination planning	37
Learning objectives	37
Introduction	38
Characteristics of tourism planning	38
History and influences on tourism planning	38
Benefits of strategic planning for tourism	40
Time frames for tourism planning	41
Naming of tourism plans	42
Outcomes of tourism planning	43
Content areas of a tourism plan	43
Geographic levels of tourism planning	48
Tourism planning process for destination management	49
Policy	49
Principals	50
Participants	51
Process	51
Plans and communicating about plans	58
Destination visioning	60
Tourism planning toolkits	62
Specialized forms of destination planning	63
Summary	65
Review questions	66
References	66
3 Destination marketing planning	69
Learning objectives	69
Introduction	70
Destination marketing principles	70
Marketing concept and customer orientation	70
Destination life cycle	70
Market segmentation	71
Marketing mix	72

Destination marketing planning	72
Destination marketing planning process	72
Destination vision	73
DMO vision	74
Destination marketing goals	74
Destination marketing objectives	76
DMO mission	76
The destination marketing system (DMS) and the PRICE model	77
1 Where are we now? (planning and research)	80
2 Where would we like to be? (planning and research)	87
3 How do we get there? (implementation)	93
4 How do we make sure we get there? (control: formative evaluation)	103
5 How do we know if we got there? (evaluation: summarative evaluation)	105
Summary	108
Review questions	109
References	109
4 Destination management research	111
Learning objectives	111
Introduction	112
Contributions of research to destination management	112
Developing a destination management research agenda	114
Fundamentals of destination management research	115
Destination management research process	115
Secondary and primary research	119
Analysis of existing markets	121
Establish study objectives	121
Define visitor	122
Determine data collection method	122
Develop the survey questionnaire	123
Determine the sample design and size	124
Determine study schedule	125
Analyse, interpret, report and communicate the data and results	125
Analysis of potential markets	126
Analysis of destination image	127
Analysis of community resident attitudes	130
Analysis for product development	132
Analysis of economic impact	134
Analysis of competitors	135
Evaluation research	137
Preparing a destination management research plan	138
DMO research departments and staff	139
Summary	140

Contents

Review questions	141
References	141
Case study: destination management research	144
5 Destination product development	154
Learning objectives	154
Introduction	155
Definition and components of the destination product	155
Destination product life cycle	157
DMO involvement in product development	158
Destination quality	162
General product development strategy models	165
Market penetration	166
Market development	166
Product development	166
Diversification	167
Principles of destination product development	167
Development of physical products	168
Types of destination physical product developments	168
Analysis of physical product developments	169
Human resources (people) development	169
Tourism workforce development strategies	170
Tourism workforce standards, and education and training programmes	171
Mentoring programmes	171
Travel trade staff education programmes	172
Development of packages	172
Roles of packaging	172
Benefits of packages	173
DMO roles in packaging	173
Event, festival and activity programme development	174
Roles of programming	174
Benefits of programming	175
DMO roles in programming	175
Interpretation	176
Roles and benefits of interpretation	176
DMO roles in the provision of interpretation	176
Information provision and information centres	178
Roles of visitor information centres	178
Accessible tourism	180
Tourism signage	181
The environment and sustainability	182
Summary	183
Review questions	185
References	186

6	Destination partnerships and team-building	189
	Learning objectives	189
	Introduction	190
	Definitions of destination partnerships and team-building	191
	Destination partnership	191
	Destination team-building	192
	Destination management role contributions of partnerships	193
	Partnerships and destination governance	194
	Requirements of destination governance	194
	Benefits of destination partnerships	196
	Destination partners	198
	Identifying destination partners	203
	Public–private partnerships in destination management	205
	Barriers and challenges for destination partnerships	206
	Destination partnership types	208
	Ingredients of successful destination partnerships	210
	Destination partnership steps	212
	Destination team-building	213
	Summary	215
	Review questions	216
	References	217
7	Destination community and tourism stakeholder relations	221
	Learning objectives	221
	Introduction	222
	Community resident relations	222
	Importance of community relations	222
	Community relations planning	224
	Tourism sector stakeholder relations	232
	Stakeholders and stakeholder theory	233
	Tourism sector stakeholder types	234
	Relations with members	241
	Relations with boards of directors	243
	Board composition	243
	Board member recruitment and selection	244
	Board orientation	245
	Board member motivation	245
	Board member conduct	245
	Board size and members' terms of office	246
	Board performance assessment	246
	Summary	247
	Review questions	248
	References	249

8	Destination governance and leadership	252
	Learning objectives	252
	Introduction	253
	Definition of destination governance	253
	Dimensions of governance	255
	DMO accountability	256
	DMO transparency	258
	DMO organizational structures, boards and by-laws	259
	Power and influence	259
	Organizational structures	260
	Boards of directors	264
	By-laws	265
	Board functions	266
	Board committees	267
	Board officers	267
	DMO funding	267
	Measuring DMO effectiveness	271
	Involvement	274
	Risk management	275
	Destination leadership	276
	Leadership roles of DMOs	276
	Destination leadership styles	278
	Summary	279
	Review questions	280
	References	281
	Part II Destination communications and promotion	285
9	Destination branding	287
	Learning objectives	287
	Introduction	288
	Positioning–image–branding (PIB) approach	288
	Importance and benefits of destination branding	291
	Enhances destination image	291
	Reinforces unique image or personality	291
	Assists DMOs in measuring achievements	291
	Articulates ambition, raises expectations and makes a quality promise	291
	Differentiates destination among competitors	291
	Challenges of destination branding	294
	Destinations are a mix of different products and services	294
	DMOs do not have total control over the destination mix that is being branded	294
	Needs a team effort	294

Contents

Measuring the effectiveness of sales promotion and merchandising	338
Digital marketing	338
Measuring the effectiveness of digital marketing	340
Crowdsourcing	340
Theme year and event marketing	342
Movie and film development	344
Planning integrated marketing communications	345
Summary	346
Review questions	347
References	348
Case study: destination branding and integrated marketing communications	350
11 Destination information and communication technologies	368
Learning objectives	368
Introduction	369
Definition of information and communication technologies (ICTs)	369
Brief recent history of ICTs	370
Importance of Internet marketing	371
Internet usage	371
Roles of websites for DMOs	372
Functions of websites for tourists	375
Website evaluation	376
Characteristics of effective DMO websites	377
The 'I AM OUTSTANDING' model	377
Summary of effective website characteristics	382
Social networks and destination management	384
Use of social media channels	384
DMO activities on social networks	385
Traveller review sites	386
Blogging	386
User-generated content (UGC)	387
DMO blogging	388
Travel and tourism blog sites	388
Mobile phones and smartphones	388
SMS	389
Mobile electronic tourist guides (METGs)	389
Augmented reality tourism	390
Tablet devices	391
Use of mobile phones when travelling	391
Other ICTs	391
Global positioning system (GPS)	391
Geo-tagging	393

Podcasts	393
Smart cards	393
Virtual visitor guides and brochures	393
Google Maps and Google Earth	394
E-book readers	394
Wikis	394
Summary	394
Review questions	396
References	396
Part III Destination markets	399
12 Consumer behaviour, segmentation and market trends	401
Learning objectives	401
Introduction	402
Motivations for travel	402
Tourism destination selection	405
The influence of destination images	408
Travel purchase behaviour process	410
Need recognition	410
Search for information	411
Pre-purchase evaluation of alternatives	412
Purchase	412
Consumption	413
Post-consumption evaluation	413
Remembering and sharing	414
Tourism market segmentation	414
Trip purpose	414
Geography	415
Socio-demographics	416
Psychographics	416
Behaviour	417
Product-related	418
Channel of distribution (business-to-business or B2B)	418
Market trends	418
Demographics	419
Countries of origin	421
Trip purposes	421
Trip planning and arrangements	422
Psychographics and lifestyles	423
Special interests	425
Technology uses	426
Summary	427
Review questions	428
References	429

13	Domestic pleasure and leisure travel markets	433
	Learning objectives	433
	Introduction	434
	Benefits of domestic tourism	434
	Size and importance of domestic tourism	436
	Trends and future prospects for domestic tourism	439
	Trends and influences on domestic tourism	439
	Future prospects	440
	Issues and challenges	441
	Whose responsibility is domestic tourism?	441
	Competition between domestic and international tourism and tourists	441
	Impacts of currency rate fluctuations	442
	Is a day-tripper a tourist?	443
	Slower development of tourism for domestic markets	444
	Market segments	444
	Family travel market	444
	Multi-generational travel market	445
	Luxury travel market	447
	Special-interest travel markets	447
	Agritourism market	448
	Golf travel market	449
	Theme park travel market	450
	Other market segmentation approaches	450
	Domestic pleasure/leisure travel marketing procedures	451
	Where are we now?	451
	Where would we like to be?	452
	How do we get there?	453
	How do we make sure we get there?	454
	How do we know if we got there?	454
	Visiting friends and relatives (VFR) market	454
	Summary	457
	Review questions	458
	References	459
14	International pleasure and leisure travel markets	463
	Learning objectives	463
	Introduction	464
	Size of the international tourist market	464
	Total arrivals by region	465
	Total arrivals by destination country	465
	International tourism expenditures by country	467
	Trends and future prospects for international tourism	468

Challenges	470
Where to focus marketing and promotion?	470
Balance of payments deficits	471
Marketing and promotion challenges	472
Susceptibility to crises	474
Uneven distribution of tourists	475
Emerging geographic origin markets	476
Brazil	476
Russia	476
India	476
China	477
Market segments with growth potential	477
Adventure tourism	478
Cruise tourism	478
Casino gaming	480
Culinary tourism	481
Cultural and heritage tourism	482
Dark tourism	483
Health and wellness tourism	483
Industrial tourism	484
Medical tourism	485
Nature-based tourism and ecotourism	485
Religious tourism	486
Shopping tourism	487
Sports tourism	487
Voluntourism	488
Wine tourism	488
International pleasure/leisure travel marketing procedures	489
Where are we now?	489
Where would we like to be?	491
How do we get there?	491
How do we make sure we get there?	493
How do we know if we got there?	493
Summary	494
Review questions	495
References	495
Case study: international pleasure and leisure travel markets	500
15 Business travel and business event markets	517
Learning objectives	517
Introduction	518
Definition of market segments	518
Regular business travel	518
Business events	519

Contents

Size and importance of business travel and business event markets	521
Business travel and business events	521
Business events	522
Benefits of business travel and business event markets	525
Benefits of business travel	525
Benefits of business events	526
Challenges	528
Competitive intensity	528
Cost control and policy compliance	528
Incorporating use of social network sites	529
Negative economic conditions	529
'Perk' perceptions of business travel and business events	529
Reliance on other tourism sector stakeholders' performance	530
Technology as a substitute for travel	530
Trends for business travel and business event markets	531
Green meetings	531
'Hybrid' meetings	532
Multi-purposing trips	532
Shorter stays	533
Strategic meetings management programs (SMMPs)	533
Use of technology	533
Professional congress or conference organizers (PCOs)	534
Incentive travel planners	535
Requests for proposals (RFPs)	537
Business event marketing procedures	537
Where are we now?	538
Where would we like to be?	540
How do we get there?	543
How do we make sure we get there?	544
How do we know if we got there?	546
Summary	548
Review questions	549
References	550
Part IV The future of destination management and marketing	553
16 The future of destination management and marketing	555
Learning objectives	555
Introduction	556
Current and future issues in destination management and marketing	556
The DMAI Futures Study	556
15 Cs framework	560
The PhoCusWright destination marketing study	563
DestiCorp conceptual development paper	564

1.9	'The future of destination marketing' (Anna Pollock)	567
3.10	Implications of global trends for destination management	568
3.11	Managing Destination Marketing Organizations	569
3.12	(Ford and Peeper)	569
3.13	Summary of issues and trends from Chapters 1–15	572
3.14	Expected future trends and potential challenges for destinations and DMOs	574
3.15	The DMO of the future	576
3.16	Summary	577
3.17	Review questions	578
3.18	References	578
Index		580