Contents

Acknowledgements vi

Introduction 1

PART A: STARTING POINTS

1 Language learning: creating the best environment 3

1.1 Beliefs about language learning 3

1.2 How learners differ 9

1.3 Four conditions for language learning 10

1.4 Classrooms as learning environments 17

1.5 Summary 19

Reflection/Observation/Further reading/Notes 19

2 Aspects of tasks 23

2.1 Defining tasks 23

2.2 Varieties of task 26

2.3 Language use in tasks 30

2.4 Learning from tasks 35

2.5 Summary 36

Material appraisal/Observation/Further reading/Notes 36

PART B: TASK-BASED LEARNING

3 The TBL framework: overview and pre-task phase 39

3.1 General overview 40

3.2 The pre-task phase 42

3.3 Managing learner talk 46

3.4 Summary 50

Material appraisal/Planning/Observation/Further reading/Notes 51

4 The TBL framework: the task cycle 53

4.1 The task stage 53

4.2 After the task 54

4.3 The planning stage 56

4.4 The report stage 58

4.5 Writing in the task cycle 61

4.6 ESL and one-to-one: task cycle adaptations 63

4.7 Summary 64

Reflection/Further reading/Notes 65

5 Tasks based on text 67
5.1 Defining text-based tasks 67
5.2 Selecting and balancing exposure 68
5.3 Reading and listening strategies 72
5.4 Designing text-based tasks 75
5.5 Planning a text-based task lesson 81
5.6 Summary 83
Material appraisal/Further reading/Notes 83

6 Exposure to spontaneous speech using recordings 87
6.1 Spontaneous speech in the TBL framework 87
6.2 Using task recordings 89
6.3 Making your own task recordings 92
6.4 Interviews recorded by learners 94
6.5 Summary 98
Material appraisal/Planning/Observation/Notes 98

7 The TBL framework: language focus 101
7.1 From meaning to form 101
7.2 Language analysis activities 102
7.3 Starting points for analysis activities 105
7.4 Language practice activities 110
7.5 Creating a pedagogic corpus 113
7.7 Summary 114
Material preparation/Further reading/Notes 115

PART C: IMPLEMENTING TASK-BASED LEARNING

8 TBL for beginners and young learners 117
8.1 Using tasks with real beginners 118
8.2 Tasks for beginners 119
8.3 Language focus for beginners 123
8.4 Teaching non-Roman alphabet beginners 125
8.5 Teaching young learners 127
8.6 Summary 130
Planning/Observation/Further reading/Notes 131

9 Adopting TBL: some practical issues 133
9.1 PPP and TBL 133
9.2 Introducing TBL 137
9.3 Assessment and TBL 142
9.4 Textbooks and TBL 144
9.5 Summary 147
Further reading/Notes 148

Appendices
A Six types of task 149
B Overview of the TBL framework 155
C Sample task-based lesson outlines 156
D Groupwork appraisal sheets 169
E The most frequent words of English 171
F Task-based examinations 173

Bibliography and References 175

Index 177

Key
To tasks on pages 36, 38, 44, 51, 66, 83–84, 100, 102, 106–7 179