

Contents

Figures and Tables	xi
Preface	xiii
The Authors	xix

Part One: A Framework for Strategic Adaptation

1. New Challenges in the Health Professions	3
2. Structure and Strategy in the Professional Community	30

Part Two: From Conventional to Contemporary Strategies

3. Achieving and Maintaining Legitimacy	55
4. Managing Relationships with Substitute Professions	89

5.	Managing Relationships with Suppliers	112
6.	Managing Relationships with Buyers	126
7.	Internal Organization and Management	152
Part Three: Profiles of Diverse Health Professions
8.	Meeting the Challenges: Change and Adaptation in Five Health Professions	195
	References	223
	Index	245

Figures and Tables

Figures

- | | | |
|-----|---|----|
| 1.1 | Key External and Interface Stakeholders | 24 |
| 2.1 | A Framework for Strategic Adaptation | 50 |

Tables

- | | | |
|-----|---|----|
| 1.1 | Size of Selected Health Professions:
1950, 1970, and 1990 | 6 |
| 1.2 | Primary Professional Associations | 8 |
| 3.1 | Accrediting Organizations for Entry-Level
Education Programs: 1990 | 68 |
| 3.2 | State Regulation of Selected Health
Professions: 1990 | 74 |
| 3.3 | Strategies for Legitimacy | 87 |
| 4.1 | Substitutes for Selected Health Professions | 91 |

4.2	Strategies for Managing Relationships with Substitute Professions	110
5.1	Strategies for Managing Relationships with Suppliers	125
6.1	Strategies for Managing Relationships with Buyers	151
7.1	Resources of Primary Professional Associations: 1990	174
7.2	Strategies for Internal Organization and Management	190