

■ IN BRIEF	5	Trump's taxes ● Trump's Syria switch
■ OPINION	6	Mike Bloomberg: The president is violating his oath of office and abusing his power, and Congress must act
■ REMARKS	8	Diesel engines are choking London
1 BUSINESS	12	China vs. the NBA? The real sports story is Anta vs. Nike
	14	Aramco's on-again, off-again IPO is on again—promise
	16	The Crown is nice, but does it have a singing neon parrot?
2 TECHNOLOGY	19	▼ To fight cancer, take out the body's trash

	21	Chinese tech faces pressure from the U.S.—and its workers
	24	Biohackers, “for the love of God, stop stabbing yourself”
3 FINANCE	26	Trading commissions are dead, but e-traders will live on
	28	Helping Wall Street cast a wider recruiting net
	30	A new risk in China's shadow banking industry
4 ECONOMICS	34	U.S. business is having a crisis of confidence
	35	A blacklist complicates trade talks
	36	At the Bank of Japan, desperation is the mother of invention
5 POLITICS	39	Trump and Erdogan hand Putin a win
	40	AMLO's party debates its future—radical or pragmatic?
	42	Airport nightmare: Gun owners carrying in carry-ons
+ SOLUTIONS / THE CLOUD	45	Box may be forced to get out of its box
	47	Oracle changes direction
■ PURSUITS	75	The caviar cavalcade of St. Moritz
	78	Puffer coats are finally fashionable
	79	Ski hotels for luxury lodgers
	80	Reviving a lost winter wonderland
	83	Clear mountain views—in any conditions
■ LAST THING	84	What does D.E. Shaw have in mind for Emerson Electric?

CORRECTION “Buyouts Push Companies to the Limit. Or Over It” (Finance, Oct. 7) said the median debt multiple for recent private equity deals in 2017 was more than 10 times Ebitda. The correct figure is 5.4.

■ DEBRIEF	75	Andrea Illy on running a family business and coffee surviving climate change
-----------	----	--

FEATURES

54	Elon Is My Co-Pilot Tesla says we should all be grateful to be lab rats in its Autopilot experiment
60	The Arctic High-Speed Internet Scam One way to rack up a billion dollars in contracts is to forge some signatures
68	Juul Is the New Big Tobacco It wanted smokers off cigarettes—now kids are getting hooked on nicotine