

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Introduction: Europe: To Be or Not to Be:
The Decision Facing Germany	i
1 How the Euro Crisis is both Tearing Europe Apart and Uniting It	5
How German austerity policies are dividing Europe – the governments are for it, the peoples are against	5
The achievements of the European Union	10
The blindness of economics	13
European domestic politics: the national concept of politics is outmoded	15
The EU crisis is not a debt crisis	19
2 Europe's New Power Coordinates:
The Path to a German Europe	22
Europe under threat and the crisis of politics	22

Contents

	The new landscape of European power	39
	‘Merkiavelli’: hesitation as a means of coercion	45
3	A Social Contract for Europe	66
	More freedom through more Europe	68
	More social security through more Europe	72
	More democracy through more Europe	74
	The question of power: who will enforce the social contract?	79
	A European spring?	82
	Notes	87