

CONTENTS

| | |
|---|----|
| INTRODUCTION: LANGUAGE AND EXPLANATION | 1 |
| 1. The objects of explanation: pictures considered under descriptions | 1 |
| 2. Descriptions of pictures as representations of thought about having seen pictures | 1 |
| 3. Three kinds of descriptive word | 5 |
| 4. The ostensivity of critical description | 8 |
| 5. Summary | 10 |
| I. THE HISTORICAL OBJECT: BENJAMIN BAKER'S FORTH BRIDGE | 12 |
| 1. The idiographic stance | 12 |
| 2. The Forth Bridge — a narrative | 15 |
| 3. Putting questions: why at all and why thus? | 25 |
| 4. Sorting the causes of form | 29 |
| 5. The triangle of re-enactment: a descriptive construct | 32 |
| 6. Summary | 34 |
| 7. The peculiarity of the pictorial object | 36 |
| II. INTENTIONAL VISUAL INTEREST: PICASSO'S PORTRAIT OF KAHNWEILER | 41 |
| 1. Intention | 41 |
| 2. The pictorial Charge and the painter's Brief | 42 |
| 3. Who set Picasso's Brief? | 46 |
| 4. The cultural painter: troc | 47 |
| 5. Picasso's market: structural cues and choice | 50 |
| 6. Excursus against influence | 58 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 7. Angles on process: positing the intentional flux | 62 |
| 8. Kahnweiler, Picasso and problems | 68 |
| 9. Summary | 72 |
| III. PICTURES AND IDEAS: | |
| CHARDIN'S A LADY TAKING TEA | 74 |
| 1. Painters and thought | 74 |
| 2. Vulgar Lockeanism and vision | 76 |
| 3. A Lady Taking Tea : distinctness and brightness | 80 |
| 4. Distinctness of vision: accommodation and acuity | 81 |
| 5. Chardin and past art | 87 |
| 6. Middle-men: La Hire, Le Clerc, Camper | 89 |
| 7. Substance, sensation and perception | 93 |
| 8. A pictorial corollary approximated | 97 |
| 9. A Lady Taking Tea : Lockean viewing | 99 |
| IV. TRUTH AND OTHER CULTURES: | |
| PIERO DELLA FRANCESCA'S | |
| BAPTISM OF CHRIST | 105 |
| 1. Cultural difference | 105 |
| 2. Knowledge of other cultures: participant's understanding and observer's understanding | 109 |
| 3. Commensurazione — an old word | 111 |
| 4. Three functions of old words: necessity, strangeness and superostensivity | 113 |
| 5. Truth and validation: external decorum, internal decorum and positive parsimony | 116 |
| 6. Three iconographies | 121 |
| 7. Plain reading of the picture | 125 |
| 8. The authority of the pictorial order | 131 |
| 9. Criticism and questionability | 135 |
| TEXTS AND REFERENCES | 138 |
| INDEX OF SUBJECTS | 148 |
| PLATES | 149 |