

Contents

Special Issue: Migration, gendered borders and human rights

Column

- All rights for surrogacy-born children full scale 275
Maud de Boer-Buquicchio

Introduction

- Migration and human rights: The law as a reinforcer of gendered borders 282
Eva Brems, Lourdes Peroni and Ellen Desmet

Articles

- Migrant domestic workers and the right to a private and family life 288
Natalie Sedacca
- On the Bride's side? Victims of domestic violence and their residence rights under EU and Council of Europe Law 311
Vladislava Stoyanova
- The boundaries of universality - migrant women and domestic violence before the Strasbourg Court 336
Janna Wessels
- Crossing borders between International Refugee Law and International Human Rights Law in the European context: Can human rights enhance protection against persecution based on sexual orientation (and beyond)? 359
Carmelo Danisi
- Gender and the boundaries of international refugee law: Beyond the category of 'gender-related asylum claims' 379
Christel Querton

SIM Peter Baehr Lecture

From hostility to reconnection: How to make human rights relevant for all

398

Dunja Mijatović

Recent publications

Recent publications on international human rights

407