

Contents

Contributors ix

Preface x

Acknowledgments xiii

Introduction	Making the Case for the Social Sciences of Sport, Exercise, and Health. . . . .	1
	The Sport Ethic and the Natural Sciences	3
	Proposing a Human Development Model	4

---

Part I Identity: Definitions, Development, and the Individual 7

---

Chapter 1	History of Sport. . . . .	9
	Wray Vamplew, PhD
	Development of the Discipline	9
	Relationships With Other Disciplines	11
	Core Concepts	12
	Main Theoretical Perspectives	13
	Critical Findings	20
	Key Debates	23
	Issues for the Sport History Research Agenda	27
	Summary	29

Chapter 2	Philosophy of Sport. . . . .	35
	Sigmund Loland, PhD, and Michael McNamee, PhD
	Historical Overview of the Discipline	36
	Main Theoretical Perspectives	37
	Key Debates	40
	Future Directions	44
	Summary	45

Chapter 3	Psychology of Sport. . . . .	49
	David Lavallee, PhD, John Kremer, PhD, and Aidan Moran, PhD
	Core Concepts	53
	Main Theoretical Perspectives	54
	Critical Findings	55
	Key Debates	57
	Summary	62

Part II	Community: Place, Space, Image, and the Social	67
<hr/>
Chapter 4	Anthropology of Sport. . . . .	71
	Alan Klein, PhD
	Foundations in Sociocultural Anthropology	71
	Post-1970: The Athletic El Dorado and the Anthropologists Who Seek Him	75
	Looking Outward	81
	Summary	84
<hr/>
Chapter 5	Sociology of Sport. . . . .	91
	Joseph Maguire, PhD
	Historical Development and Core Concepts	94
	Main Theoretical Perspectives	95
	A Sociological Account of Sport: Critical Findings	101
	Future Directions and Key Debates	103
	Summary	104
<hr/>
Chapter 6	Geography of Sport. . . . .	109
	Christopher Gaffney, PhD
	Historical Trajectory of the Geography of Sport	109
	Core Concepts	116
	Main Theoretical Perspectives	118
	Key Debates and Critical Findings	128
	Future Directions	130
	Summary	131
<hr/>
Chapter 7	Media Studies and Sport . . . . .	135
	David Rowe, PhD
	Historical Connections and Questions in Media Studies	137
	Understanding Media: Core Concepts	140
	Media Powers and Routines: Main Theoretical Perspectives	142
	Critical Findings and Key Debates in Sport and Media	144
	Conclusion: Sport and Media Studies in Transition	154

---

Part III      Capital: Wealth, Power, and Resources      163

---

Chapter 8      Economics and Sport . . . . .165
Stefan Szymanski, PhD

Professional League Model: Theory and Policy 166

Productivity Studies 172

Economic Impact: Measurement, Theory, and Policy 173

Sport, Physical Activity, and Well-Being 176

Illustrations of Economic Issues 177

Conclusions 180

Chapter 9      Political Science and Sport . . . . .191
Jonathan Grix, PhD

Core Concepts in Political Science 192

Study of Sport and Politics 194

 Research Paradigms and Theoretical Perspectives in Political Science 197

 Applying Political Science and Sport: The Governance of Sport and the Politics of Mega-Events 204

Summary 212

Chapter 10      International Relations and Sport . . . . .219
Roger Levermore, PhD, and Aaron Beacom, PhD

Core Concepts and Main Theoretical Perspectives 220

Critical Findings and Key Debates 223

Summary 239

---

Part IV      Governance: Regulation,
Organization, and Implementation      247

---

Chapter 11      Sport and the Law . . . . .251
Deborah Healey, LLB, LLM (Hons)

The Global Organization and Regulation of Sport 252

Overview: The Place of Law in Sport 254

Are the Courts Always Interested in Sport? 258

Governance 259
Aspects of Industry Self-Regulation in Sport 265
Summary 272

Chapter 12 Sport and Social Policy. . . . . 277

Ramón Spaaij, PhD

Discipline of Social Policy: A Historical Overview 278
Main Theoretical Perspectives 281
Key Concepts 288
Key Debates 293
Summary 299

Chapter 13 Sport and Management Studies . . . . . 305

Lucie Thibault, PhD

Sport as a Unique Industry 306
Historical Overview 309
Core Concepts 314
Main Theoretical Perspectives 320
Critical Findings 322
Key Debates 329
Summary 333

Chapter 14 Sport and Education . . . . . 341

Dawn Penney, PhD

Core Concepts 341
Theoretical Perspectives 343
Critical Findings 347
Key Debates 351
Summary 362

Epilogue 371      Index 375      About the Editor 385