Contents

| Foreword                                                                   |                                                    | ix                                                     |     |  |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|-----|--|
| Preface                                                                    |                                                    |                                                        | xi  |  |
| Introduction: A Theoretical Essay on Established andOutsider Relations |                                                    |                                                        | xv  |  |
| 1                                                                          | Consider                                           | rations of Procedure                                   | Ĭ   |  |
| 2                                                                          | Neighbourhood Relations in the Making              |                                                        | 13  |  |
| 3                                                                          | Overall Picture of Zone 1 and Zone 2               |                                                        | 24  |  |
| 4                                                                          | The Mother-Centered Families of Zone 2             |                                                        | 43  |  |
| 5                                                                          | Local Associations and the "Old Families' Network" |                                                        | 51  |  |
| 6                                                                          | Overall                                            | Picture of Zone 3                                      | 71  |  |
| 7                                                                          | Observa                                            | tions on Gossip                                        | 89  |  |
| 8                                                                          | Young People in Winston Parva                      |                                                        | 106 |  |
| 9                                                                          | Conclusi                                           | on                                                     | 146 |  |
| Appendix 1                                                                 |                                                    | Sociological Aspects of Identification                 | 174 |  |
| Appendix 2                                                                 |                                                    | A Note of the Concepts "Social Structure" and "Anomie" | 177 |  |
| Appendix 3                                                                 |                                                    | On the Relationship of"Family" and "Community"     | 182 |  |
| Selected Bibliography                                                      |                                                    |                                                        | 187 |  |
| Index                                                                      |                                                    | 193                                                    |     |  |