

Contents

- Acknowledgements IX
Notes on the Editors X
Notes on the Contributors XII
List of Illustrations XVI

- 1 Introduction: The Figure of the Nymph in Early Modern Culture 1
Anita Traninger and Karl A.E. Enenkel

PART 1

Nymphs between the Visual Arts and Literature

- 2 Pleasures of the Imagination: Narrating the Nymph, from Boccaccio to Lope De Vega 15
Anita Traninger
- 3 Salmacis, Hermaphrodite, and the Inversion of Gender: Allegorical Interpretations and Pictorial Representations of an Ovidian Myth, ca. 1300–1770 53
Karl Enenkel
- 4 The Sleeping Nymph Revisited: Ekphrasis, Genius Loci and Silence 149
Barbara Baert
- 5 ‘Who, Then, is the “Nympha”?’ An Iconographic Analysis of the Figure of the Maid in the Tornabuoni Frescoes 177
Agata Anna Chrzanowska

PART 2

Literary Representations

- 6 Lamenting, Dancing, Praising: The Multilayered Presence of Nymphs in Florentine Elegiac Poetry of the Quattrocento 195
Christoph Pieper

- 7 An Epiphanic Figure with the Power to Bind: Lia's Role in Boccaccio's *Comedia delle ninfe fiorentine 225
Tobias Leuker
- 8 Renaissance Nymphs as Intermediaries in Early Modern German Territorial Politics 238
Andreas Keller
- 9 Discursive Sisters of the Arts, Raw Material of Inspiration: The Early Pegnitz Flower Society's Nymphs 265
Damaris Leimgruber

PART 3

Garden Architecture

- 10 The Mediality of the Nymph in the Cultural Context of Pirro Visconti's Villa at Lainate 305
Mira Becker-Sawatzky
- 11 Nymphs Bathing in the King's Garden: La Granja de San Ildefonso and Caserta 337
Eva-Bettina Krems

PART 4

Music

- 12 Venez plorer ma desolation*: Lamenting and Mourning Nymphs in Culture and Music around 1500 373
Wolfgang Fuhrmann
- 13 The Nymph's Voice as an Acoustic Reflection of the Self 396
Michaela Kaufmann

PART 5

Aetiology and Antiquarianism

- 14 Founding Sisters: Nymphs and Aetiology in Humanist Latin Poetry 421
Christian Peters
- 15 Our White Ladies on the Graves: Historicisations of Nymphs in Early Modern Antiquarianism 445
Bernd Roling
- Index Nominum 463

We owe thanks to Charlotte Bohn, who helped organise the Berlin panels, and Cornelia Selent, who took care of the administrative side of the Münster workshop. Yola von Rohden, Angie Martiens and Marie Lippert have supported us at various stages with editing and managing the production of the volume. Christian Peters gave us technical help with the illustrations. Milley Hyatt and Meredith McGrouarty have taken care of English language editing. We are most grateful to all of them.

Berlin - Münster, 3 October 2017