

Contents

Maps

Indo-China: South Vietnam's main towns, railways and roads	xi
North and South Vietnam's provinces	xii
South Vietnam's major war zones and battles	xiii

Introduction

1

1 Prelude to the Armed Struggle

13

The 6th Plenary Session of the Lao Dong Party	13
Le Duan's 14-point plan	15
Le Duan's thesis: 'The road to the South'	18
2nd Conference of the Nam Bo Regional Committee	20
The 12th Plenary Session and the modernisation of the VPA	21
A re-think of the 'North-first' strategy	24
Activities leading to the 15th Plenary Session of the Lao Dong Party	26
The 15th Plenary Session of the Lao Dong Party and ensuing developments	29
Developments following the passing of Law 10/59	33
Le Duan	37
Chinese and Russian attitudes towards the resumption of armed struggle	37

2 The Armed Struggle Begins	41
The armed struggle resumes	41
Hanoi and the growing Sino-Soviet rivalry	44
Developments in Laos	48
The 3rd Party Congress of the Lao Dong Party	52
Communist activities in the South	54
Directive of 31 January 1961	56
Developments in the VPA	58
Further developments in Laos	59
The proposed International Conference on Vietnam	62
Le Duan's July 1962 letter to the South	64
The military situation in the South	65
The Battle of Ap Bac	67
Modernisation of the VPA reviewed	68
Ngo Dinh Diem's death	69
3 The Armed Struggle Intensifies	73
The 9th Plenary Session of the Lao Dong Party	73
Military preparations	75
Developments in Laos and Cambodia	76
Hanoi and the Sino-Soviet rift	78
Special Political Conference (27–28 March 1964)	79
The Tonkin Gulf incident and its aftermath	80
Preparations for the winter–spring 1965 offensive	83
Military offensive (I): The Binh Gia Campaign	84
Kosygin's visit to Hanoi	86
Hanoi's 4-point plan	86
Military offensive (II): (a) The Dong Xoai Campaign	90
Military offensive (II): (b) The Ba Gia Campaign	92
Developments in the VPA	94
Military preparations in the South	99
Military offensive (III)	101
Developments in 1965 reviewed	103
Responding to the US counter-offensive	104
Fighting and negotiating	107
Ho Chi Minh	109
Stalemate	110

4 Breaking the Stalemate	113
Military situation in early 1967 reviewed	113
Nguyen Chi Thanh and the Tet Offensive proposal	116
Ho Chi Minh's health	119
Preparations for the Tet Offensive	120
The Tet Offensive (or 'General Offensive General Uprising') – Phase I	126
The decision to negotiate	131
The Tet Offensive – Phase II	132
The Tet Offensive – Phase III	133
The military situation in 1969	135
Differences within the Hanoi leadership	138
Hanoi and Sino-Soviet relations	139
Ho Chi Minh's final months	140
Notes	145
Selected Bibliography	175
Index	191