

CONTENTS

Karel Hrubý	vii	Introduction
I.	Philosophical and Religious Views
Jan Patočka	1	An Attempt at a Czech National Philosophy and Its Failure
Milič Čapek	23	The Presence of Masaryk's Thought
Erazim Kohák	37	To Live in Truth: Reflections on the Moral Sense of Masaryk's Humanism
Roman Jakobson	63	Problems of Language in Masaryk's Writings
Jan Milič Lochman	83	Emanuel Rádl: In Masaryk's Footsteps
II.	Meaning of History
Václav Černý	99	The Essence of Masaryk's Personality and What TGM Means to Us Today
Karel Hrubý	119	The Philosophical Roots of Masaryk's Political Outlook
George J. Kovtun	139	Thomas G. Masaryk's Road to Revolution
René Wellek	157	T. G. Masaryk on the Meaning of Czech History

III. Sociological and Political Problems

Jaroslav Krejčí	173	Masaryk and Revolution: A Humanist, His Sociology and Politics in the Light of History
Antonie van den Beld	191	Masaryk's Morality of Humanity and the Problem of Political Violence
Branislav Štefánek	203	Masaryk and Slovakia
Roman Szporluk	219	Masaryk's Republic: Nationalism with a Human Face
Miroslav Novák	241	Some Thoughts on Masaryk's Critique of Marxism
Jiří Voskovec	257	TGM and Culture in the First Republic

Appendix

Č. P.	263	On the Periodization of Czech History
Milič Čapek	276	Concluding Remarks