

■ IN BRIEF	4	Vaccine race ● EU stimulus ● New faces at the Fed
■ OPINION	5	Federal officers are just what Portland doesn't need
■ AGENDA	5	Interest rates ● German GDP ● Perelman's paintings
■ REMARKS	6	Wall Street had a great quarter; it won't play well
1 BUSINESS	8	The not-so-wild one in the driver's seat at Harley
	10	Airbus, Boeing, and... Commercial Aircraft Corp. of China?
	11	China and the U.S. vie to stream in Southeast Asia
	12	Dirk Van de Put on running a snack empire in a pandemic
2 TECHNOLOGY	15	Employees describe a boys club atmosphere at Ubisoft, maker of Assassin's Creed and other video game hits
3 FINANCE	20	What's fishy about those rosy private equity numbers
	22	How a stockpicking guru ended up on Unsolved Mysteries
	23	The market may be rallying itself right into a bubble
	25	Wall Street is slowly reopening. Some traders never left
4 ECONOMICS	26	More stimulus, experts say, or the economy falls off a cliff
	28	▼ Questioning China's African infrastructure funding

MARTEK
DRI KNOHNY
11/13

5 POLITICS	30	Home-schooling fans want a slice of the next stimulus
	32	Nov. 3 nears, and the social media trickery soars
■ PURSUITS	55	Your Rolls isn't special enough. You need a limited edition
	58	What's new for dinner: Made-to-order crockery
	60	Etiquette rules for strange times
	62	The 2016 Barolos are out, and it was quite a year
	63	Schwinn's smooth-riding brand-new old bike
■ LAST THING	64	The questions Congress ought to ask Big Tech's CEOs

FEATURES

- 34 Ice Cream With a Conscience
Long known for its social activism, Ben & Jerry's turns to Black Lives Matter
- 40 The End of U.S. Energy Independence?
Plunging prices and less love for fossil fuels batter the fracking industry
- 44 Living Dangerously
Juul didn't tell the FDA it had improved an e-cigarette. Will it pay a price?
- 50 Back From a Hack Attack
Norsk Hydro did it all with low tech, and without paying a ransom