

Contents

Series Editor's Preface	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Key Terms	xiv
1 Religious Diversity	1
1.1 Religion: Some Historical Remarks	1
1.2 Religion: A Definition	7
1.3 Diversity in Religion	12
1.4 Philosophical Questions about Religious Diversity	16
1.5 Standpoints and Answers	19
2 Religious Diversity and Truth	21
2.1 Religious Claims: Doctrines and Teachings	21
2.2 Assent and Acceptance	26
2.3 Truth, Falsehood, Incompatibility	31
2.4 Parity with Respect to Truth: A Kantian View	37
2.5 Parity with Respect to Truth: A Wittgensteinian View	45
2.6 Parity with Respect to Truth: Nonreligious Views	50
2.7 Difference with Respect to Religious Truth: Exclusivism	53
2.8 Difference with Respect to Religious Truth: Inclusivism	56
2.9 A Catholic Christian Argument for Open Inclusivism	60

3	Religious Diversity and Epistemic Confidence	66
3.1	Epistemic Confidence	66
3.2	Awareness of Diversity	70
3.3	Religious Responses to the Question of Epistemic Confidence	75
3.4	Privatization	81
3.5	The Epistemic Significance of Religious Diversity: A Christian View in Conversation with William Alston	89
4	The Religious Alien	99
4.1	Toleration: Enduring the Religious Alien	101
4.2	Separation: Isolating the Religious Alien	111
4.3	Conversion: Domesticating the Religious Alien	119
4.4	Christian Evangelism	132
5	The Question of Salvation	138
5.1	Pluralism	142
5.2	Exclusivism	150
5.3	Inclusivism	159
5.4	Restrictivism and Universalism	161
	A Brief Guide to Further Reading	170
	Index	172