

■ IN BRIEF	4	Hong Kong delays elections ● Argentina's debt deal
■ OPINION	5	Hire laid-off energy workers to help fight climate change
■ AGENDA	5	Tencent earnings ● U.S. crop data ● New Zealand rates
■ REMARKS	6	A rebate meant to lift Italy's economy widens a class divide
1 BUSINESS	10 12	Virus flareups ground airlines' hopes for a rebound Boeing and Airbus gamble on keeping factories running
2 TECHNOLOGY	14	Silicon Valley's mostly White workforce highlights the tech industry's epic fail in diversity
3 FINANCE	18 21 22	When oil went negative, a group of traders made a killing A coin shortage gives no quarter to laundromats Killer Mike's campaign to get Americans to #BankBlack
4 ECONOMICS	24 26 28	Biden the deficit hawk makes way for Biden the big spender Puerto Rico risks future funding as citizens skip the census Europe is recovering faster than the U.S.
5 POLITICS	30	▼ Turning Chinese propaganda on its head in Hong Kong

	32	A conservative judicial star faces a right-wing litmus test
+ STRATEGIES	34 36 37	How to make that commitment to racial diversity a reality To keep innovating, get creative about remote collaboration Providing service with a smile while wearing a mask
■ PURSUITS	55 58 60 62 63	Architect Bjarke Ingels rethinks urban living A blueprint for restaurants' survival Pandemic-born innovation may help us fly through airports A cross between QVC and Netflix for the cocktail set Space Age jewelry at an out-of-this-world price
■ LAST THING	64	In a low-rate world, gold can do what bonds can't

CORRECTION

The Bank of England item in Agenda (Aug. 3, 2020) should have converted £300 billion into $390 billion.

FEATURES

38

Google's Dominance of Search Ads Sure Is Taxing

The company's health-care push is a case study in tech giants' monopoly power

42

Private Equity Was Supposed to Cure Ailing Hospitals

A Cerberus buyout leaves investors flush and medical centers deep in debt

46

Pepsi's Unlucky Number

A '90s marketing stunt led to disaster and death in the Philippines