

CONTENTS

- A Note on Language and Spelling ix
Map of Cultural Tibet x
Introduction: Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York, August 1989 xiii

PART I: A PROPHECY FULFILLED

1. The Travails of the Great Thirteenth 3
2. A Mystic and a Seer: The Regency Established 16
3. A Child Is Born 27
4. The View from the Place of the Roaring Tiger:
Tibet's Nameless Religion 36
5. "Lonely and somewhat unhappy": A Hostage in All but Name 45

PART II: THE LION THRONE

6. Homecoming: Lhasa, 1940 57
7. Boyhood: Two Cane-Handled Horsewhips 74
8. Trouble in Shangri-La: Devilry and Intrigue on the Roof of the World 87
9. The Perfection of Wisdom: The Higher Education of a
Tibetan Buddhist Monk 99
10. "Shit on their picnic!": China Invades, 1949-50 113

11. Into the Dragon's Lair: The Dalai Lama in China,
July 1954–July 1955 132
12. The Land of the Gods: India, November 1956–March 1957 148
13. “Don't sell the Dalai Lama for silver dollars!": Lhasa, 1957–1959 166

PART III: FREEDOM IN EXILE

14. On the Back of a Dzo: The Flight to Freedom 187
15. Opening the Eye of New Awareness:
Allen Ginsberg and the Beats 196
16. “We cannot compel you”: Cultural Revolution in Tibet,
Harsh Realities in India 215
17. “Something beyond the comprehension of the Tibetan people”:
The Yellow Book and the Glorious Goddess 232
18. From Rangzen to Umaylam: Independence and the Middle Way Approach 246

PART IV: BODHISATTVA OF COMPASSION

19. Cutting Off the Serpent's Head: Reaction and Repression
in Tibet 263
20. “An oath-breaking spirit born of perverse prayers”:
The Murder of Lobsang Gyatso 281
21. Tibet in Flames: The Beijing Olympics and Their Aftermath 299
22. The Magical Play of Illusion 312

Afterword and Acknowledgments 331

The Fourteen Dalai Lamas 335

Glossary of Names and Key Terms 338

Notes 349

Bibliography 386

Index 392