

CONTENTS

Foreword	vii
WANG LIXIONG
A Note on the Photographs	xi
TSERING WOESER
Defining Revolution: A Note on the Word Shajie	xv
TSERING WOESER
Introduction	xvii
ROBERT BARNETT
A Note on the English Edition	xxxvii
ROBERT BARNETT AND SUSAN T. CHEN
I. Smash the Old Tibet! The Cultural Revolution Arrives	1
Gallery 1: On the Eve of the Storm	2
In Quest of Memories: The Red Guards Arrive	19
Gallery 2: The Sacking of the Jokhang	21
The Red Guards in Lhasa Take Action	41
How Was the Jokhang Sacked?	48
The Red Guards from Mainland China	60
The Aftermath of the Sacking of the Jokhang	63
Who Is to Be Blamed?	69
After the Sacking	73
Gallery 3: Denouncing the Ox-Demon-Snake-Spirits	81
Ox-Demon-Snake-Spirits in Tibet	149
The Diversification of Activists	151
Rule by Intimidation: Life Under the Neighborhood Committees	155
Gallery 4: Changing Names	159
The Barkor Becomes “Establish-the-New Avenue”	169
The Norbulingka Is Changed to the “People’s Park”	172
Renaming Chagpori as “Victory Peak”	175

II.	Civil War among the Rebels:
	“Whom to Trust—The Faction Decides!”	179
	Gallery 5: The Two Main Rebel Factions	180
	Factional Ideologies: Fighting over the Same Idea	205
	A Rivalry of Blood and Fire	209
	The Dust Settles	223
III.	The Dragon Takes Charge:
	The People’s Liberation Army in Tibet	227
	Gallery 6: Military Rule	228
	The People’s Liberation Army in Tibet	247
	Conflicts within the Military	250
	The Passionate Dedication of the Military Propaganda Teams	252
	Gallery 7: Everyone a Soldier: The Tibetan Militia	257
	Turning Civilians into Soldiers	267
IV.	Mao’s New Tibet	271
	Gallery 8: The Revolutionary Committees	272
	The Revolutionary Committee Takes Over	276
	Gallery 9: The People’s Communes	281
	The Third Revolution: Communes and Their Costs	287
	Gallery 10: Installing a New God	292
	The Omnipresence of Mao	309
V.	Coda: The Wheel Turns	311
	Gallery 11: The Karmic Cycle	312
	Repaying the Debt	316
	Postscript: Forty-Six Years Later	319
	Return to Lhasa	320
	Forty-Six Years Later	334
	Appendix: Jampa Rinchen’s Testimony	365
	Glossary of Chinese and English Terms	381
	Glossary of Tibetan Terms	387
	Notes	393
	References	407