

Contents

List of Tables and Figure	x1
Preface	xv
Acknowledgments	xvii
Abbreviations for Post-Communist Political Parties, by Country	xix
Introduction	3
1. An Overview of Party Development (1850–1989)	8
The Years Up to and During World War I (1850–1917)	8
The Interwar and the Early Post-World War II Period (1918–1947)	16
The Communist Period (1948–1989)	29
2. A New Day: Parties in the Post-Communist Period (1990 to the Present)	39
Hungary	40
Czechoslovakia, Slovak Republic, Czech Republic	46
Poland	66
The Factors Underlying Party Development	74
3. The Party System: A Product of a Country’s History and Culture?	76
Historical Continuity of Political Parties as Institutions	76
Historical Continuity in Political Culture	80
A Country’s Historical Development	87
4. The Party System: A Reflection of Social Cleavages?	90
Lipset and Rokkan: Four Societal Cleavages	90

Generational Cleavages	114
Gender-based Cleavages	117
5. The Party System: A Product of the Rules of the Game?	137
Poland	139
Czech Republic	141
Slovakia	147
Hungary	148
6. Political Party Development in Post-Communist East-Central Europe: In Search of General Patterns	152
Toward Party Politics	152
Toward Rational Choice Based on Interests	159
Toward a More Clearly Structured Politics? A "Limited Convergence" Hypothesis	168
Toward Political Stability?	177
Notes	181
Works Cited	191
Index	201