

■ IN BRIEF	12	Dylan divests ● Uber's automation exit ● IPO season
■ OPINION	14	U.S. allies need to get behind Biden
■ AGENDA	14	Bannon in court ● FDA meets on Moderna ● Fed sets rates
■ REMARKS	16	The U.S. child-care mess hurts parents—and the economy
1 BUSINESS	20 22	Late may mean never for some laggard Covid vaccines Nike's multicultural message may not translate in Japan
2 TECHNOLOGY	24	▼ Facebook's Will Cathcart has a plan to turn the WhatsApp messaging service into a real business

3 FINANCE	28 30	Chinese-owned Webull draws a bead on Robinhood San Francisco rents become remotely affordable
4 ECONOMICS	32 34	Using ally networks to counter China's influence Jay Powell's transformative tenure at the Fed
5 POLITICS	36 38	Don't expect much of a sanctions slowdown under Biden The U.S. needs big ideas, not a bigger national stockpile
+ STRATEGIES	40 42 43	"Sorry" doesn't have to be the hardest word for businesses The formula for late-life career success Pandemic-era additions to your skill set
■ PURSUITS	67 68 69 70 72 73 74 75	Philanthropy Special: In 2020, charity begins close to home Citizens in small and midsize cities rally to support the arts A digital Green Book boosts Black-owned restaurants Subaru's drive to clean up U.S. national parks Wearable merchandise becomes a lifeline for local business Funds to help bail out those who can't afford bail Food banks step up to fight rising hunger in the pandemic Great-sounding earbuds that help others hear
■ LAST THING	76	Big Tobacco hasn't stubbed out all its legal challenges

CORRECTIONS

"A Global Reckoning for Big Tech" (Remarks, Dec. 7) gave an incorrect title for Jack Ma. He is founder of Ant, not chairman. The story also mischaracterized Ant's financing. It should have said that 98% of its loans are securitized or underwritten by banking partners. ● The Bloomberg 50 (Dec. 7) misidentified Strive Masiyiwa's title. He's founder and executive chairman of Econet Group. "Ones to Watch" should have set the show PEN15 in the 2000s.

FEATURES

44

How to Survive a Pandemic

South Korea's lockdown-free strategy is a road map for the rest of the world

52

The Essex Boys Who Struck It Rich

Nine London-area traders rode the April 20 oil crash to a $660 million profit

58

Moms' Love for Medela Goes Cold

The creator of the modern breast pump faces an end to its 40-year monopoly