

CONTENTS

List of Contributors	7
Networking Toward EU Integration	9
Introduction: The Return of Identity to European Politics	11
Petr Drulák
I. The Czech Experience of Identity	21
Jiří Brodský
II. From Defense Against the “Others” to the Formulation of its Own Interests: The Case of Slovakia	39
Ol’ga Gyárfášová
III. The National Identity and European Consciousness of Poles	57
Ireneusz Krzeminski
IV. Hungarian National and European Identity	69
András Balogh
V. Coming Home to Europe: The Reconstruction of Slovene National Identity in Relation to Europe	79
Kristina Plavšak
VI. The Construction of National and European Identity in Lithuania ..	95
Inga Vinogradnaitė
VII. European Values and Latvian Identity	113
Elga Freiberga
VIII. National and European Identities: The View from Estonia	129
Aksel and Marika Kirch
IX. Reinventing Romania, or Redefining the National Identity	145
Liviu Mureşan

X. The Crystallization of European Identities: The Bulgarian Case . . .	161
Andrey Ivanov
XI. Semper Idem? The Relationship of European and National Identities	179
Henrik Richard Lesaar
Conclusions: European and National Identities in the Accession Countries – the Role of the European Union	195
Martin Brusis
Bibliography	209