

Contents

About the Editors	ix
About the Contributors	xi
Foreword Sue Bredekamp	xv
Acknowledgments	xix
Chapter 1 Language Development in the Preschool Years Catherine E. Snow, Patton O. Tabors, and David K. Dickinson	1
Importance of Language Development in the Preschool Years
Anatomy of a Research Study
The Portrait Children
Purpose of this Book
Section I Supporting Language and Literacy Development in the Home
Patton O. Tabors	27
Chapter 2 Parents and Children Reading Books Together Jeanne M. DeTemple	31
Importance of Book Reading in Children's Development of Language and Literacy Skills
Talk During Book Reading in the Home-School Study
Home Support for Literacy
Discussion
Suggestions for Parents
Chapter 3 Playing at Home: The Talk of Pretend Play Jane R. Katz	53
Defining Social Pretend Play
Theoretical Views on the Development of Social Pretend Play
Analyzing the Play Sessions
Suggestions for Parents
Chapter 4 Eating and Reading: Links Between Family Conversations with Preschoolers and Later Language and Literacy Diane E. Beals	75
Mealtime Data Collection
Literacy Outcomes

	Conclusions
	Suggestions for Parents
Chapter 5	“You Know What Oxygen Is?”: Learning New Words at Home
	Patton O. Tabors, Diane E. Beals, and Zehava O. Weizman	93
	Learning New Words
	Support for Rare-Word Use in the Different Conversational Contexts
	Relationships Between Rare Words and Kindergarten Vocabulary
	Conclusions
	Suggestions for Parents
Chapter 6	Home Language and Literacy Environment: Final Results
	Patton O. Tabors, Kevin A. Roach, and Catherine E. Snow	111
	Magnet Task and Science Process Talk
	Home Language and Literacy Environment: Putting the Pieces Together
	Home Language and Literacy Environment and Kindergarten Skills
	Discussion
	Conclusions
Section II	Supporting Language and Literacy Development in the Preschool Classroom
	David K. Dickinson and Miriam W. Smith	139
	Prior Studies of Preschool Supports for Language and Literacy
	Summary
	Classroom Data Collection
	Overview of the Chapters in this Section
Chapter 7	Children’s Experiences in Preschool
	Miriam W. Smith	149
	Methodological Considerations
	Focus Teachers
	Teachers’ Pedagogical Beliefs
	Teachers’ Classroom Practices
	Conclusions
Chapter 8	Book Reading in Preschool Classrooms: Is Recommended Practice Common?
	David K. Dickinson	175

	How Effective Book-Reading Practices Support Literacy Development
	Mariana's Classroom: A Didactic Instruction Approach
	Todd's Classroom: A Constructivist Approach
	Place of Book Reading in the Classroom Day Across All Classrooms
	How Two Teachers Read Books
	Overall Style of Reading Books
	Book-Reading Styles and Group Management
	Content of Book Discussions Across Classrooms
	Conclusions
	Suggestions for Teachers
Chapter 9	Language Opportunities During Mealtimes in Preschool Classrooms
	Linda R. Cote	205
	Role of Mealtimes in the Head Start Day
	Comparisons of the Quality of Mealtime Conversations
	Long-Term Implications of Language Use During Mealtimes
	Suggestions for Teachers
	Conclusions
Chapter 10	Large-Group and Free-Play Times: Conversational Settings Supporting Language and Literacy Development
	David K. Dickinson	223
	Background Research
	Profile Classrooms: Astra's and Casey's Classroom Days
	Examining Large-Group Activities in Our Classrooms
	Examining Free-Play Activities in Our Classrooms
	Shift Between Preschool and Kindergarten
	How We Examined Children's Conversations
	Relationships Between Language Experiences and Development in Kindergarten
	Contributions of Group Times to Language and Literacy in Kindergarten
	Contributions of Free Play to Language and Literacy in Kindergarten
	Conclusions
	Suggestions for Teachers

Chapter 11	Putting the Pieces Together: Impact of Preschool on Children's Language and Literacy Development in Kindergarten David K. Dickinson	257
	Dimensions of Children's Classroom Experiences Factors Affecting Teacher's Classroom Practices Examining the Overall Impact of Preschool Understanding How Classrooms Support Children's Development
Section III	Bringing Homes and Schools Together David K. Dickinson and Patton O. Tabors	289
Chapter 12	Parent Involvement as a Link Between Home and School Michelle V. Porche	291
	Measuring Parent Involvement in the Home-School Study Conclusions
Chapter 13	Homes and Schools Together: Supporting Language and Literacy Development Patton O. Tabors, Catherine E. Snow, and David K. Dickinson	313
	Long-Term Importance of Kindergarten Language and Literacy Skills Linking Home and School Data Implications for Practitioners and Policymakers Conclusions
Appendix:	Home-School Study Data	335
References	387
Index	397