

Contents

Foreword by Michael Brown	vii
Preface	xi
Part I Contemporary Radio: Social and Digital Media
1 Digital Radio: Audio Listening from AM to FM to XM . . . and Beyond	3
JOHN ALLEN HENDRICKS AND BRUCE MIMS
2 Audience Research and Web Features of Radio Stations in a Time of Uncertainty	22
LU WU AND DANIEL RIFFE
3 The Parasocial Nature of the Podcast	39
LAITH ZURAIKAT
4 Social Media Analytics, Radio Advertising, and Strategic Partnerships	53
JOSEPH R. BLANEY
Part II Programming Matters: Localism, Personalities, and Audiences
5 The Shrinking Electronic Town Square: Localism in American Talk Radio	67
DAVID CRIDER

6	The Fandom of Howard Stern and Its Relationship to His Success: The “King of All Media” and a Dynamic Audience	82
	RACHEL SUSSMAN-WANDER KAPLAN
7	The War of the Worlds Broadcast: Fake News or Engaging Storytelling?	96
	JOHN F. BARBER
8	Unpredictable Programming: A Freeform Approach to Building Audiences	119
	EMILY W. EASTON
Part III Social Issues: Contemporary Overtones
9	Air to the Kingdom: Religion and the Soul of Radio	137
	MARK WARD SR.
10	“A More Inclusive Public Service”: Can NPR Serve All of America?	154
	JOHN MARK DEMPSEY
11	The Sound of Yellow Rain: Resisting Podcasting’s Sonic Whiteness	173
	ANJULI JOSHI BREKKE
Part IV International Perspectives: Modern Paradigms
12	Canadian Community/Campus Radio: Struggling and Coping on the Cusp of Change	193
	ANNE F. MACLENNAN
13	Revenge of the Nerds: How Public Radio Dominated Podcasting and Transformed Listening to Audio	207
	BRAD CLARK AND ARCHIE MCLEAN
14	Reproducing Analog Pathologies in the Digital Radio Landscape: The Case of Greece	231
	MICHAEL NEVRADAKIS
15	Almost 100 Years of Women in Radio: Where Are We Now?	255
	SIMON ORDER
	Acknowledgments	273
	About the Editor	275
	Notes on Contributors	277
	Index	283