

---

Contents

---

List of figures	x
List of tables	xii
Acknowledgments	xiv
Foreword by Ruth Balogh	xv
Preface to the second edition	xvi
1 What does doing pedagogical action research mean in the current higher education context?	1
2 Why is reflective practice important?	16
3 Why is the professionalization of university teaching important?	35
4 How can pedagogical action research contribute to career development?	53
5 Where do you start a pedagogical action research study?	69
6 What research methods should you choose?	91
7 How can you analyze qualitative data in pedagogical action research?	118
8 How can you analyze quantitative data in pedagogical action research?	138
9 How can you use pedagogical tools for your action research study?	164

10	What are the ethical issues involved in pedagogical action research?	189
11	Going public: how can you grow the influence of your findings?	209
Appendices
A	Practical methods to develop your reflective practice	236
B	How action research can support an application for Associate Fellowship of the HEA	239
C	How action research can articulate with the HEA categories of Fellowship	243
D	Using your teaching experience to generate action research questions: the reconnaissance stage	245
E	Constructing a research protocol	247
F	Constructing an attitude scale	251
G	Case study showing how qualitative and quantitative data can be combined	254
H	Case study of a pedagogical action research study to illustrate some ethical issues	256
I	Example of a completed information sheet for research participants	259
J	Research consent form template	262
K	Example of an unsuccessful abstract that was submitted to a conference as a research paper	263
L	Example of a successful abstract that was submitted to a conference as a research paper	265

M	Illustration of a fictionalized cover letter to the editor when submitting a manuscript for consideration as a journal publication	267
N	Illustration of a fictionalized cover letter to the journal editor accompanying a revised manuscript	268
O	Example of a real response to reviewers' comments on a submitted manuscript for journal publication	269
P	Example of a budget for a fictionalized internally funded research bid	271
	Bibliography	273
	Index	295