

■ IN BRIEF	6	Vaccine nationalism ● Protests rock Russia ● Busy Biden
■ OPINION	7	The U.S. should lead again in science
■ AGENDA	7	E-commerce earnings ● The loneliest groundhog
■ REMARKS	16	Xi is ready for a reset, if Biden does all the resetting
1 BUSINESS	18	The stars of rock 'n' roll are cashing in
	20	Carmakers are in trouble—and your phone is to blame
2 TECHNOLOGY	22	Francisco Partners has found a profitable niche as Big Brother's favorite tech provider
3 FINANCE	26	GameStop rides a crowdsourced short squeeze
	27	Those hot blank-check companies often run cold
	29	Leon Black steps down (partially) at Apollo
4 ECONOMICS	30	A century ago, a global pandemic and a technology boom sparked the Roaring Twenties. Don't get your hopes up
5 POLITICS	34	This is Joe Manchin's moment
	36	▼ The turnout machine that turned the Peach State blue

37 Words count: From “American carnage” to an “uncivil war”

■ PURSUITS	55	Rollable phones: Mighty in your hand, tiny in your pocket
	58	Puff pastry, the photogenic comfort food
	59	All the social justice fashionistas are wearing ...Nascar?
	60	Watches worthy of Magnum, P.I.
	62	Art dealer Rudolf Zwirner has some regrets
	63	A multisided chair with multiple inspirations

■ LAST THING	64	Money can buy happiness
--------------	----	--------------------------------

CORRECTION “The Cult of Positivity” (Pursuits, Jan. 18) described the International Coach Federation as a life-coaching body. Now known as the International Coaching Federation, it’s an accrediting body for training programs.

FEATURES

38

Everything You Want to Know About the Vaccine

A conversation with Pfizer CEO Albert Bourla

42

Going His Way

How writer Esmé Deprez helped her dad die with dignity

50

The Pillow Guy Sets His Bed on Fire

Trump ally Mike Lindell just will not shut up about the election