

■ IN BRIEF	4	Ant crawls out of the shadows ● A big loss for Big Oil
■ AGENDA	4	Impeachment trial 2.0 ● See the world (at an auction)
■ OPINION	5	HIV. Ebola. Zika. Covid. We can stop the next one
■ REMARKS	6	The U.K. left the EU. Will Europe leave London?
1 BUSINESS	11	Vaccine boosters could boost vaccine makers
	13	China opens its duty-free doors to domestic tourists
	15	EVs get the hype, but light trucks still make the sales
2 TECHNOLOGY	17	Apple and Facebook's very public spat over your data
	19	Delivery startup Pandion wants to cut in a middleman
	20	Where contact tracing is a boon for doctors—and the police
3 FINANCE	22	What's the moneyline on sportsbooks futures?
	24	Bitcoin trusts can't keep up with the crypto craze
	25	Green activists target fossil fuel lenders
4 ECONOMICS	28	▼ The shattered pipeline dreams of an Alberta town

	30	Biden's middle-class foreign policy
	31	Will $15 really kill jobs?
5 POLITICS	34	The mail carrier finally has a friend in Washington
	36	Brussels makes a mess of the EU's vaccine rollout
■ PURSUITS	55	The $92 million Botticelli: An old master is a late bloomer
	58	Cruises are viral labs—with lots of eager lab rats
	60	A zesty chile brings Guatemala to your kitchen
	61	The umbrella of kings (well, future kings)
	62	Aston Martin enters the SUV race
■ LAST THING	64	It's not easy suing Elon Musk

FEATURES

38

Beating the Next Pandemic

Yes, there will be a next one. And another. And another...

44

Stonks Are Bonkers, and Other Observations

The tendies-fueled Reddit rebellion reveals some important investing lessons

48

Hold My Beer

Not even Covid can stop the party that is pro darts