

■ IN BRIEF	9	Sarkozy sentenced ● Lex Greensill ● An exit at Nike
■ OPINION	10	Farmers have a stake in fighting climate change, too
■ AGENDA	10	German vote ● George Floyd's trial ● Biden's stimulus
■ REMARKS	12	Hyping the risk of hyperinflation carries risks of its own
1 BUSINESS	14	Tesla needs to crack Europe's corporate car market
	16	To deliver vaccines safely, shippers go all 007
	17	Piracy is costing streaming services plenty
2 TECHNOLOGY	20	Can Clubhouse remain the hottest app alive?
	21	▼ Silicon Valley folks needn't live in Silicon Valley anymore

	24	An undersea cable gets tangled up in geopolitics
3 FINANCE	27	Robinhood has a stern new sheriff on its tail
	29	Walmart wants to be your bank, and banks are nervous
	30	Crypto may be just what the digital art world needs
4 ECONOMICS	32	Trying to loosen Taiwan and South Korea's grip on chips
	34	Australia rethinks just how global it wants to be
5 POLITICS	36	At a Mexican asylum camp, migrants' hopes spring anew
	38	Online shopping is saving states' bottom lines
	39	The U.S. tries to carve out a climate channel with China
+ SOLUTIONS / FUTURE OF WORK	42	After a century of five-day weeks, how about four?
	44	Working from home makes people less likely to call in sick
	45	Home vs. office: Tomorrow's workplace may be both
■ PURSUITS	63	Supercars have seen the future, and it's electric
	66	High-end vehicles as investments: Not so fast, bub
	68	Today's standard car features were yesterday's exotica
	70	At Miami's Concours Club, racy spins of pricey wheels
	71	For the best-dressed driver, Steve McQueen shades
■ LAST THING	72	SPACs are private equity funds for everybody

FEATURES

46

Saving the World—for a Price

Pfizer's vaccine headaches are political, logistical, geographical, ethical...

54

Security Insecurity

Guards are in high demand, but it's a dangerous job in a pandemic

58

'Ave a Brew, Mate

Wetherspoons, the pubbiest of British pub chains, fights to stay relevant

