CONTENTS

Table of Figures 5

Codes 7

Country codes 7

Statistical codes 7

Main Findings 9

Introduction 13

Chapter 1: Academic Staff in a Changing Higher Education Landscape 17

1.1. Understanding academic staff 17

1.2. Governance and human resource planning 24

Conclusions 27

Chapter 2: Academics and their Qualifications 29

2.1. Doctoral degree: a starting point of an academic career? 29

2.2. Qualification requirements within academic careers 37

Conclusions 41

Chapter 3: The Recruitment of Academic Staff 43

3.1. Top-level authorities' legislation on recruitment of academic staff 44

3.2. Recruitment methods 47

3.3. Recruitment process 50

3.4. Equal opportunities 51

3.5. Recruitment management 57

Conclusions 59

Chapter 4: Employment and Working Conditions in Academia 61

4.1. Employment conditions in academia 61

4.2. Duties and working time of academic staff 68

4.3. Remuneration of academic staff 73

4.4. Continuing professional development (CPD) of academic staff 77

4.5. Monitoring of employment and working conditions in academia 81

Conclusions 83

Chapter 5: Quality Assurance and Evaluation of Academic Staff 85

5.1. The European context for quality assurance 85

5.2. External quality assurance 86

5.3. Individual evaluation of academic staff 91

Conclusions 95

Chapter 6: Internationalisation and Staff Mobility 97

6.1. Top-level strategies for the internationalisation of higher education 97

6.2. Top-level monitoring of staff mobility 103

6.3. Top-level support for specific actions related to internationalisation 105

Conclusions 106

Annexes 107

Annex 1: National diagrams of academic staff categories 107

Sources of statistical data included in national diagrams 145

Annex 2: Examples of large-scale programmes for academic staff mobility 148

References 155

Glossary 159

Acknowledgements 163