

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	1
Between Danger and Hope	1
The Invisible Crisis	2
The Failure of Civil Society	3
The Struggle for Civilization	4
The Core Argument	6
Structure of Argument	8
1. Climate Catastrophe	16
A Debate Resolved? Current Climate Change is Unequivocally Anthropogenic	17
National Security Alert	33
Rapid Climate Change	36
Abrupt Change Through 'Tipping Points'	40
A Systemic Failure	51
2. Energy Scarcity	61
Energy and Society	61
Quick Alternatives to Conventional Oil?	79
3. Food Insecurity	94
The Global Food Empire	94
Peak Food?	98
4. Economic Instability	107
The Problem of 'Growth'	108
Global Financial Crisis	121
5. International Terrorism	138
Hydrocarbon Over-Dependence	138
Al-Qaeda and Post-Cold War Western Covert Operations	142
The 'Redirection': Al-Qaeda Sponsorship in the Middle East After 2003	152
6. The Militarization Tendency	161
Empire	163
Defending the Homeland	185

7. Diagnosis – Interrogating the Global Political Economy	200
The Continuum of Crisis, and Civilizations as Complex Adaptive Systems	200
Structural and Socio-Systemic Dynamics of Capitalism	209
Neoliberal Computational Finance Capitalism	227
The Political-Legal Regulation of the Global Imperial System	236
Capitalism's Philosophical Base	239
8. Prognosis – The Post-Carbon Revolution and the Renewal of Civilization	248
Afterword	258
Notes and References	259
Index	292