

Summary Contents

Detailed Contents	vii
List of Figures	xii
List of Tables	xv
Preface	xvi
1 The Early Farming Dispersal Hypothesis in Perspective	1
2 The Origins and Dispersals of Agriculture: Some Operational Considerations	12
3 The Beginnings of Agriculture in Southwest Asia	44
4 Tracking the Spreads of Farming beyond the Fertile Crescent: Europe and Asia	67
5 Africa: An Independent Focus of Agricultural Development?	97
6 The Beginnings of Agriculture in East Asia	111
7 The Spread of Agriculture into Southeast Asia and Oceania	128
8 Early Agriculture in the Americas	146
9 What Do Language Families Mean for Human Prehistory?	180
10 The Spread of Farming: Comparing the Archaeology and the Linguistics	200
11 Genetics, Skeletal Anthropology, and the People Factor	252
12 The Nature of Early Agricultural Expansion	273
Notes	280
References	292
Index	350