

Contents

List of illustrations	ix
Preface and acknowledgements	x
Notes on contributors	xi
1 Doing history in public? Historians in the age of impact PEDRO RAMOS PINTO AND BERTRAND TAITHE	1
2 The genealogy boom: Inheritance, family history and the popular historical imagination JEROME DE GROOT	21
3 History 2.0: History, publics and new technologies TOBY BUTLER	34
4 The humanities and public service broadcasting: A history film-maker's view MICHAEL WOOD	46
5 From Roy Jenkins downwards: The historian/journalist and journalist/historian in contemporary Britain SCOTT ANTHONY	70
6 The return of national history STEFAN BERGER	82
7 History, memory and civic education FRANÇOISE VERGÈS	95
8 'Different and better times'? History, progress and inequality EMILY ROBINSON	110

viii Contents

9	Campaigning histories PETER YEANDLE	123
10	History, science and environment policy PAUL WARDE	139
11	History and practitioners: The use of history by humanitarians and potential benefits of history to the humanitarian sector JOHN BORTON AND ELEANOR DAVEY	153
12	The impact of the state PETER MANDLER	169
	Index	182