

CONTENTS

Introduction	5
Contents	15
(A) General theoretical issues:
S g a l l P., On the notion "type of language"	19
S g a l l P., Syntax, meaning, and reference	39
M a t e r n a P. and P S g a l l, Optional participants in a semantic interpretation (Arity of predicates and case frames of verbs)	51
P l á t e k M., S g a l l J. and P. S g a l l, A dependency base for a linguistic description	63
H a j i č o v á E., On presupposition and allegation	99
S g a l l P., Remarks on text, language and communication	123
(B) Empirical questions of syntax and semantics
H a j i č o v á E. and J. P a n e v o v á, Valency (case) frames of verbs	147
H a j i č o v á E., Topic and focus	189
P a n e v o v á J., Sentences with general actor	203
(C) Specific issues of grammar
P i ř h a P., Case frames of nouns	225
W e i s h e i t e l o v á J. and P. S g a l l, On the syntax of some types of pronouns in Czech	239
K r á l í k o v á K., Passive voice in the generative description of Czech	259
B é m o v á A., Verbal prefixation from the viewpoint of valency	275

(D) Towards systems of automatic comprehension:

H a j i č o v á E. and P. S g a l l: Text-and-inference based answering of questions	291
J i r k ů P., Logical and linguistic aspects of computer-based inference processes	321
K i r s c h n e r Z., On a dependency analysis of English for automatic translation	335
Editorial note	359
References	361
List of abbreviations	378