

C O N T E N T S

I. Some General Remarks on Linguistic Methods . . . . .	5
II. A brief Survey of the History of England . . . . .	14
III. The Old English Period . . . . .	21
IV. The Scandinavian Influence on the Development of English . . . . .	28
V. The Norman and Central French Influence on the Development of English . . . . .	32
VI. The Graeco-Latin Influence in the Age of "New Learning" . . . . .	38
VII. Other Influence on the Development of English . . . . .	42
VIII. England on the Threshold of the Modern Age . . . . .	44
IX. The Rise of American English . . . . .	48
X. English in Modern Times . . . . .	54
XI. Some Remarks on the Development of the English Grammatical System . . . . .	58
XII. The Cockney Dialect of London . . . . .	63
XIII. On Some Problems of Written English . . . . .	68