

---

Content

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Abstract .....   | 9  |
| Keywords .....   | 10 |
| Acknowledgements .....   | 11 |
| Acronyms and Key Terms .....                                     | 12 |
| State Surveying Organisationsin Czechoslovakia, 1945– ..... | 15 |
| List of Figures .....  | 16 |
| List of Tables .....   | 18 |
| Introduction .....   | 21 |
| Mass Political Attitudes Research in Czechoslovakia .....               | 23        |
| Empirical social research during the First Republic (1918-1938) .....   | 24        |
| Emergence of mass survey research (1945-1948) .....                     | 25        |
| Empirical social research under communism (1948-1969) .....             | 27        |
| Re-emergence of mass survey research (1965-1967) .....                  | 29        |
| Stability of Czechoslovak attitudes between 1948 and 1968 .....         | 31        |
| Political Attitudes Research during the Prague Spring Era .....         | 31        |
| Logic and Structure of this Research Study .....                        | 35        |
| Public opinion polling and the political climate .....                  | 38        |
| Evaluation of mass survey questions .....                               | 40        |
| Overall structure of this research study .....                          | 43        |
| Roadmap of this Study .....   | 45        |
| 1. Proposals for Reforming Czechoslovakia:                       |           |
| The Prague Spring Movement of 1968 .....                         | 49 |
| Internal Reform Proposals .....   | 50        |
| 1. A 'New Economic Model' .....   | 52        |
| 2. Social implications of a socialist high technology economy .....     | 54        |
| 3. Social stratification, status and power .....                        | 55        |
| 4. Political power, citizen rights and democratisation .....            | 57        |
| 5. Electoral reform .....   | 60        |
| External Reform Proposals .....   | 62        |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| 1. Rejection of dogmatism and search for real socialism .....  | 63         |
| 2. Pluralism and democracy .....   | 68         |
| Internal versus External Reform .....  | 70         |
| Official 'internal' reform agenda: The Action Programme .....  | 71         |
| External reform agenda: Two Thousand Words .....   | 72         |
| Conclusion .....   | 74         |
| 2. Conceptions of Democracy, Public Opinion and Opinion Polling .....                         | 77  |
| Different Visions of Democracy .....   | 78         |
| Public Opinion, Opinion polls and Democracy .....  | 81         |
| Public opinion and opinion polling in a Socialist Democracy .....                                    | 82         |
| Public opinion and opinion polling in a Liberal Democracy .....                                      | 82         |
| Public opinion, opinion polling and type of democracy .....  | 83         |
| Theory confronting data .....  | 87         |
| Public Opinion toward Democracy and Elections .....  | 88         |
| Public preferences for electoral reform and institutional opposition ..                              | 89         |
| Institutional guarantees of democracy and perceived threats .....                                    | 94         |
| Trust in politicians, voting intentions and party preferences .....                                  | 98         |
| Attitudes toward reform within the KSČ .....   | 106        |
| Conclusion .....   | 109        |
| 3. The Prague Spring Generation: Public Opinion on the Eve of Reform ....                     | 111 |
| Determinants of Political Pluralism in Czechoslovakia .....  | 112        |
| 1. Static structural perspective .....   | 113        |
| 2. Dynamic structural perspective .....  | 114        |
| 3. Cross-cutting social cleavage explanation .....   | 115        |
| 4. Stratification dominant model .....   | 117        |
| Comparison of models of mass support for Prague Spring reforms                                       | 120        |
| Methods and Data .....   | 122        |
| The Images of the World 'Prague Spring Generation' Survey (1967)                                     | 124        |
| Empirical Results and Discussion .....   | 127        |
| Optimism-pessimism towards the past, present and future .....  | 128        |
| Interest in the future and belief in planning change .....   | 131        |
| Perceptions of likely societal change .....  | 133        |
| Sense of political efficacy, influence and interest .....  | 135        |
| Social and political activism .....  | 137        |
| Attitudinal orientation of Czechs and Slovaks in 1967 .....  | 140        |
| Conclusion .....   | 142        |
| 4. Mapping Czechoslovak Citizens' Political Values and Preferences in 1968and 2008 ..... | 145 |
| Political Theory Confronting Survey Data .....   | 147        |
| The Mlynář model of citizen politics .....   | 147        |
| Klokočka's model of citizenship and electoral participation .....                                    | 151        |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Data and Results .....   | 153        |
| Brokl model of political orientation in 1968 .....   | 155        |
| Political Values in 1968 and 2008 .....  | 156        |
| Exploratory Factor Analysis across space and time .....  | 157        |
| Political Preferences in 1968 and 2008 .....   | 163        |
| MDU analysis of political preferences .....  | 165        |
| Conclusion .....   | 169        |
|    |            |
| 5. The Structure of Czechoslovak Elitesat the End of the Prague Spring Era .....           | 171 |
| Elites, Power, Influence and Social Circles .....  | 173        |
| Developing a comparative research methodology .....  | 174        |
| Elite Survey Data and Methodology .....  | 175        |
| Survey methodology .....   | 176        |
| Questionnaire design and interviewing .....  | 177        |
| Analysis and Results .....   | 178        |
| Who were members of the Czechoslovak elite in 1969? .....  | 178        |
| Social origins of elites and reproduction of social positions .....                                    | 182        |
| Elites' perceived role and influence in society .....  | 184        |
| Structure of interaction and influence among elites .....  | 187        |
| Sociometric analysis .....   | 191        |
| Opinion formation and policy formulation .....   | 195        |
| Conclusion .....   | 198        |
|    |            |
| 6. The Preferences and Values of Czechoslovak Elites .....                                      | 201 |
| Elite Consensus and Regime Stability .....   | 202        |
| Ideological elite consensus and reform .....   | 204        |
| Structure of Czechoslovak Elite Preferences .....  | 206        |
| Mapping Czechoslovak elites preferences .....  | 208        |
| Structure of Czechoslovak Elite Values .....   | 212        |
| Mapping Czechoslovak elites' values .....  | 214        |
| Association between Elite Preferences and Values .....   | 218        |
| Cross-validation of the preference and value classifications .....                                     | 218        |
| Explanations of Elite Preferences .....  | 222        |
| Elite consensus and explaining preference outlook .....  | 223        |
| MNL model results .....  | 223        |
| Conclusion .....   | 227        |
|    |            |
| 7. Popular Support for Democratic Values across the Generations in theCzech Republic ..... | 229 |
| Persistence versus Openness? .....   | 231        |
| Age, Attitudes and Values .....  | 232        |
| Cohort perceptions of Prague Spring and the Velvet Revolution .....                                    | 233        |
| Stability of democratic values across time .....   | 235        |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Socialisation and Period Effects .....                                   | 239        |
| Life-cycle Effects as a Source of Opinion Change .....                   | 240        |
| Political attitudes across the life-cycle .....                          | 244        |
| Generational Replacement and Intracohort Sources of Opinion Change ..... | 246        |
| Change within the public, or 'true' opinion change? .....                | 249        |
| Conclusion .....   | 251        |
| Conclusion .....  | 253 |
| Legacy of the Prague Spring Era for Citizens .....                       | 254        |
| Czech Historiography and the Survey Evidence .....                       | 259        |
| Historiography of the Prague Spring Era .....                            | 261        |
| Public opinion and the interrupted revolution explanation .....          | 264        |
| Public opinion and the liberalization explanation .....                  | 266        |
| Public opinion and the evolution of society interpretation .....         | 268        |
| Concluding Remarks .....   | 272        |
| References .....  | 275 |
| Appendices .....  | 295 |
| Website for this Research Study .....                                    | 295        |
| Timeline of Czechoslovakia's Political History .....                     | 295        |
| Chronology of Events in Czechoslovakia, 1967-1969 .....                  | 297        |
| Biographical Notes .....   | 310        |
| Methodological Issues Regarding Aggregate Data Analysis .....            | 325        |
| Index .....   | 361 |
| About the Author .....  | 362 |