

Contents

1. Preliminary Ideas	1
1.1. Social Communication and Social System	3
1.2. Concept of Communication	8
1.3. Social Communication and Its Treatment	12
1.4. The Aim of the Present Work	18
1.5. Stimulus and Response	26
1.6. Memory	30
1.7. Expectation	35
1.8. Differences Between Communication Levels	39
2. Quantities	42
2.1. Rate of Communication	43
2.2. Mean Rate	46
2.3. Acceleration	47
2.4. Relative Number of Communicants	50
2.5. Intensity	52
2.6. Dispersion and Its Types	56
2.7. Communication Step	58
2.8. Density as a Property of the Environment	61
2.9. Environment as a Constant	65
2.10. Communication Obstacles	67
2.11. Resistence of Environment Once Again	73
2.12. Permeability and Opacity	75
2.13. Infiltration	81
2.14. Retention	83

2.15. Time Structure of Communication	84
2.16. Instant Rate of Communication	86
2.17. Communication Level	91
3. Simple Models	96
3.1. Conjunction of the Descriptive Quantities	97
3.2. Models Containing Non-communicants	100
3.3. Models With Memory	109
3.4. Models With Periodical Communication	121
3.5. Interactions Between Social and Communi- cation System	128
3.6. Density of Stimuli in an Environment	132
3.7. Communication and the States of a System	134
4. General Statements and Definitions (Instead of Conclusions)	139
Supplements	143
1. Islam and Social Communication	143
2. Social Morphogenesis and Communication	174
Select Literature	192