

Contents

Acknowledgements IX

Figures X

Introduction 1

To the reader 35

First book about the conversion of the Indians and heathens

Book I, Chapter 1, Reason for the work and its division into parts 39

Book I, Chapter 2, About both of the Indies, their first discovery and the Dutch Indian Company 43

Book I, Chapter 3, Heathenism (Gentilismus). About its name and that of the pagans. What is heathenism? The origin of idol-worship 53

Book I, Chapter 4, The heathenism of the ancients. First that of the Chaldeans and the Sabaeans. Many of the laws of Moses can be explained from rites that are their opposite. From these derive also the names of the days, named after the planets, and the first idol-worship of the stars. The idol-worship of the Egyptians. The progress of the idols, from the stars to the things under the heavens, finally to people and animals. The Greeks and Romans. Finally, the Germans 61

Book I, Chapter 5, The present heathenism of Africans and Asians. Former and present Brahmans of the Indians. The people of Gujarat. The religion of the people in the kingdom of the Deccan, in Malabar, Narsinga, Ceylon, Pegu, etc. 81

Book I, Chapter 6, The Chinese, Formosans and Koreans 102

Book I, Chapter 7, The Japanese 116

Book I, Chapter 8, The Tatars 124

Book I, Chapter 9, The American Lapps, first about their land, then about their religion 127

Second book about the conversion of the Indians and heathens

Book II, Chapter 1, The Greek and Latin Church Fathers who wrote against the heathens 153

Book II, Chapter 2, More recent and modern authors of works against the heathens 177

Book II, Chapter 3, The Sibylline Books, their author and the Pimander of Hermes Trismegistus 189

Book II, Chapter 4, About God, that He exists, that He is One and also how and who He is 214

Book II, Chapter 5, The world, how it was created and how it is governed 231

Book II, Chapter 6, About man, immortality and the state of the soul after death, and the resurrection of the dead 243

Book II, Chapter 7, The sins of the Indians and heathens with respect to the worship of God 260

Book II, Chapter 8, The sins of the Indians and heathens against a decent way of life, in particular against the sixth and seventh commandments 279

Book II, Chapter 9, How to convince people of the Christian religion and, in particular, of the divinity of the Scripture 290

Book II, Chapter 10, The authority of Christ and the apostles and the truth of the Christian religion 300

Book II, Chapter 11, Where it is taught that the conversion of the heathens also pertains to us 317

- Book II, Chapter 12, How the heathens should be converted and what should be taken care of and effected by the churches, universities and politicians 335
- Book II, Chapter 13, Where it is shown what kind of clergymen should be sent 352
- Book II, Chapter 14, Where we show the manner and the means to be used by ministers to advance the work of conversion, negative and positive examples 367
- Book II, Chapter 15 and last, where the example of the conversion of the Indians and heathens in America by the Reformed and pious Englishmen is presented for imitation 410
- Disputations in Johannes Hoornbeeck, De conversione Indorum et gentilium, disquisitiones institutae in Academiae Lugduno-Batava, Leiden, Elzevier, 1664 419
- Bibliography 421
- Index 442