

FULL CONTENTS

List of abbreviations

xvi

Table of cases, legislation and other sources

xviii

PART I PREREQUISITES OF COMPETITION LAW

1 The context of European competition law	2
1 Introduction	2
2 What is competition (law) about?	2
2.1 Schools of thought	3
2.2 Challenges ahead	6
2.3 The role of the law in competition	8
3 Objectives of competition law	9
4 The institutional setup	13
5 The approach of this book	17
6 Conclusions	18
2 Key concepts and categorisations	20
1 Introduction	20
2 Basic concepts	20
2.1 The concept of undertaking	20
2.2 Market definition	23
2.3 Trade between the Member States	25
2.4 Extraterritorial application of the EU competition rules	27
3 Categorisations	28
3.1 The substantive rules on competition	28
3.2 The procedural competition rules	29
4 The role of enforcement in EU competition law	30
5 Conclusions	33
3 The economics of competition law	34
1 Introduction	34
2 General setup and basic concepts	35
2.1 Demand and supply	35
2.2 Costs	37
2.3 Profit maximisation, consumer and producer surplus	38
2.4 Efficiency and costs of monopoly	40
3 In-between scenarios and ongoing developments	42
3.1 Oligopolies	43
3.2 Digital markets	45
4 Conclusions and overall remarks on the use of economics in competition law analysis	47

PART II ANTITRUST LAW

4	Introduction to antitrust law: the scope of EU and national antitrust provisions	51
1	Introduction	51
2	EU antitrust law	52
3	Domestic antitrust laws of the EU Member States: alignment with the EU model	54
4	EU and domestic antitrust law: realms of application	55
5	Conclusions	57
5	The cartel prohibition and the ban on anti-competitive agreements	58
1	Introduction	58
2	Article 101(1) TFEU: the ban on cartels	59
2.1	Agreements, concerted practices and decisions of associations of undertakings	59
2.1.1	Agreements	60
2.1.2	Concerted practices	61
2.1.3	Decisions of associations of undertakings	64
2.2	Restriction of competition	65
2.2.1	Restriction by object and by effect	65
2.2.2	Appreciability	71
2.2.3	Rule of Reason in Article 101(1) TFEU?	72
2.3	Impact on the trade between the Member States	75
2.3.1	General observations	75
2.3.2	Extraterritorial scope	76
2.3.3	The Guidelines on the Effect on Trade	76
3	The exceptions to the cartel prohibition	78
3.1	The Block Exemptions	78
3.1.1	Block Exemption for vertical restraints	79
3.1.1.1	Market power	79
3.1.1.2	Black-listed clauses	80
3.1.1.3	Grey-listed clauses	84
3.1.1.4	Future developments	85
3.1.2	Horizontal cooperation agreements	86
3.1.2.1	Block Exemption for specialisation agreements	86
3.1.2.2	Block Exemption for research and development agreements	88
3.1.2.3	Future developments	88
3.2	Article 101(3) TFEU: the legal exception	89
4	National examples of the cartel prohibition	92
4.1	Germany	92
4.2	The UK	95

4.3	The Netherlands	98
4.4	Other Member States	101
5	Conclusions	102
6	The prohibition to abuse a dominant position	104
1	Introduction	104
2	Article 102 TFEU: constitutive elements	105
2.1	One or more undertakings	106
2.2	Dominant position	108
2.2.1	Relevant market	110
2.2.1.1	Product/service market	111
2.2.1.2	Geographic market	113
2.2.1.3	Temporal market	114
2.2.1.4	Market definition in the digital economy	115
2.2.2	Establishing dominance	117
2.2.2.1	Market shares and positioning on the market	117
2.2.2.2	Expansion and entry	119
2.2.2.3	Buyer power	121
2.2.2.4	Dominance in the digital economy	121
2.3	Internal Market or substantial part of it	123
2.4	Abuse	123
2.4.1	Categorisations	125
2.4.2	Object/effect analysis in Article 102 TFEU?	126
2.4.3	Competition on the merits	128
2.4.4	Exclusionary conduct and anti-competitive foreclosure	129
2.4.5	Examples of abusive conduct	131
2.4.5.1	Excessive (high) pricing	132
2.4.5.2	Price discrimination	133
2.4.5.3	Predatory pricing	135
2.4.5.4	Refusal to supply	138
2.4.5.5	Margin squeeze	142
2.4.5.6	Rebates and exclusive purchasing	143
2.4.5.7	Tying and bundling	146
2.4.5.8	Vexatious litigation and other abuses connected to the enforcement of legal rights	148
2.4.5.9	Abusive conduct on digital markets	149
2.4.6	' De minimis ' threshold in Article 102 TFEU?	154
2.5	Effect on the trade between the Member States	155
3	Defences and justifications	156
3.1	Objective necessity	158
3.2	Efficiencies	159
4	Examples from national jurisdictions	161
4.1	The example of Germany	161

4.1.1	Dominant position	161
4.1.2	Abuse of dominance	162
4.1.3	Relative market and superior market power	164
4.1.4	Future developments	165
4.2	The example of France	165
4.2.1	Abuse of a dominant position	166
4.2.2	Abuse of economic dependence	169
4.2.3	Abusively low pricing	169
4.2.4	Future developments	170
4.3	The example of the Netherlands	171
5	Conclusions	174

PART III ENFORCEMENT OF THE ANTITRUST RULES

7	Preliminary enforcement considerations	177
1	Introduction and the connection between substantive and procedural rules	177
2	Types of enforcement and their inter-relationship	178
3	Objectives of the EU antitrust enforcement mechanisms	180
3.1	Clarifying the substantive prohibitions	180
3.2	Deterrence	181
3.3	Compensation	182
3.4	Procedural fairness	183
4	EU/national delineation	184
4.1	EU and national public enforcement: decentralisation and the multi-level enforcement system	185
4.2	National institutional and procedural autonomy in EU public and private enforcement	186
4.3	EU law safe-net: the principles of equivalence and effectiveness	188
5	Conclusions	189
8	Public enforcement of the EU antitrust rules	190
1	Introduction	190
2	Investigations by the Commission	191
2.1	Investigations into sectors of the economy and into types of agreements	191
2.2	Request for information	191
2.3	Power to take statements	193
2.4	The inspection of business premises	193
2.4.1	The powers of the Commission	194
2.4.2	Legal privilege	194
2.4.3	Inspections on the basis of a written authorisation or a decision	195

2.4.4	Fundamental rights and inspections	196
2.5	The inspection of other premises, such as private homes	199
3	Decisions and sanctions adopted by the Commission	200
3.1	Finding and termination of infringement	200
3.1.1	Procedural issues	201
3.1.2	Priority decisions	202
3.2	Interim measures	204
3.3	Commitments	204
3.4	Finding of inapplicability	207
3.5	Fines	208
3.5.1	Statement of objections	209
3.5.2	General observations on the fines in EU competition law	209
3.5.3	Guidelines on the fines imposed by the Commission	212
3.5.4	Leniency	214
3.5.4.1	Conditions for leniency	215
3.5.4.2	Marker system	216
3.5.5	Settlements	216
3.6	Periodic penalties	218
4	Enforcement at the national level	218
4.1	The relationship between the Commission and the NCAs	218
4.2	The relationship between the Commission and the domestic courts	219
4.2.1	Parallel application of the EU competition rules by the Commission and the domestic courts	220
4.2.2	Cooperation between the Commission and the domestic courts	221
4.2.2.1	Requests from national courts	221
4.2.2.2	Information given by the Commission on its initiative	221
4.3	EU requirements for enforcement at the national level	223
4.3.1	Institutional design	223
4.3.2	Investigation powers	224
4.3.3	Decision-making and sanctioning powers	226
4.3.4	Leniency	228
4.3.5	Cooperation	229
4.4	National laws on enforcement	229
4.4.1	Enforcement of competition law in Germany	230
4.4.1.1	The institutional design of the BKA	230
4.4.1.2	Investigations	231
4.4.1.3	Decisional powers	232
4.4.1.4	Sanctions in German competition law	235
4.4.2	Enforcement of competition law in the Netherlands	240
4.4.2.1	The institutional design of the ACM	240

4.4.2.2	Investigations	242
4.4.2.3	Decisional powers	244
4.4.2.4	Sanctions in Dutch competition law	246
5	Conclusions	253
9	Private enforcement of the EU antitrust rules	254
1	Introduction	254
2	The basics of private enforcement	255
2.1	Actors in private enforcement	255
2.2	Direct effect of the EU antitrust provisions and the role of domestic courts	256
2.3	Types of private enforcement mechanisms	257
3	The EU right to claim damages: case-law developments	260
3.1	Courage and Crehan	261
3.2	Manfredi	263
3.3	Otis	264
3.4	Kone	267
3.5	Preliminary findings	269
4	Understanding and further shaping EU private enforcement through soft-law	270
4.1	The Ashurst Report 2004	270
4.2	The Green Paper 2005	271
4.3	The White Paper 2008	272
4.4	The Communication on Quantifying Harm 2013	273
4.5	The Recommendation on Collective Redress 2013	273
4.6	Some recent soft-law developments	276
4.7	Findings so far	277
5	The Private Damages Directive 2014	277
5.1	The basics	278
5.2	Who can claim damages?	281
5.3	Limitation periods and their suspension: when should damages actions be initiated?	286
5.4	Disclosure of evidence	288
5.5	Liability of infringers: who must pay the damages?	295
5.6	The relationship between leniency and private enforcement of the antitrust rules	301
5.7	Extent of damages: qualification and quantification of harm	306
6	Conclusions	309
PART IV CONCENTRATION CONTROL
10	Concentration control	312
1	Introduction	312

2	Prerequisites of concentration control	313
2.1	Motivations and drivers	313
2.2	Categorisations	315
2.3	Rationale for (EU) merger control	315
3	The EU merger control system	318
3.1	Jurisdiction	319
3.1.1	The concept of concentration	319
3.1.1.1	Mergers	320
3.1.1.2	Acquisitions	320
3.1.1.3	Full-function joint ventures	323
3.1.1.4	Situations which do not amount to concentrations	324
3.1.1.5	The minority shareholdings discussion	325
3.1.2	The concept of EU dimension	326
3.1.2.1	Undertakings concerned	328
3.1.2.2	Turnover	329
3.1.3	The one-stop-shop principle	331
3.1.4	Case referrals	332
3.1.4.1	Pre-notification referrals	332
3.1.4.2	Post-notification referrals	334
3.1.4.3	Potential revision of the case referral system	336
3.2	Procedure	336
3.2.1	Mandatory prior notification	337
3.2.2	Suspension of concentrations	339
3.2.3	Appraisal phases, time limits and Commission decisions	340
3.2.3.1	Phase I	341
3.2.3.2	Phase II	343
3.2.4	Investigation and enforcement measures	346
3.2.4.1	Sanctions	346
3.2.4.2	Investigation powers	346
3.2.4.3	Safeguards	348
3.2.5	Appeals against Commission decisions	348
3.3	Substantive analysis	351
3.3.1	From dominance to SIEC	352
3.3.2	Market definition	356
3.3.3	Market shares and concentration levels	357
3.3.4	The counterfactual and theories of harm	360
3.3.4.1	Horizontal unilateral effects	362
3.3.4.2	Horizontal coordinated effects	366
3.3.4.3	Non-horizontal unilateral and coordinated effects	369
3.3.5	Countervailing factors and efficiencies	373
3.3.5.1	Buyer power	373
3.3.5.2	Market entry/potential competitors	374

3.3.5.3	Failing firm defence	376
3.3.5.4	Efficiencies	377
3.3.6	Standard of proof	379
3.3.7	Substantive analysis and Article 101 TFEU	381
3.3.7.1	Ancillary restraints	381
3.3.7.2	Cooperative dimension of full-function joint ventures	382
3.3.8	Substantive appraisal of concentrations in the digital economy	383
4	Beyond the EU merger control system: international aspects and domestic experience	385
4.1	Relationship with the Member States' authorities	385
4.2	Relationship with third countries	386
4.3	A brief note on Brexit	387
4.4	Experience in domestic jurisdictions	388
4.4.1	The Netherlands	388
4.4.2	Germany	392
4.4.3	Austria	396
5	Conclusions	398

PART V COMPETITION RULES ADDRESSED TO THE MEMBER STATES

11	The state and competition	401
1	Introduction	401
2	The useful effect doctrine	402
2.1	Union loyalty and the Treaty provisions on competition	402
2.2	The decentralised application of the useful effect doctrine	404
3	Article 106 TFEU	406
3.1	Article 106(1) TFEU: the special undertakings and the state	406
3.1.1	First condition: the special undertakings	407
3.1.2	Second condition: competition issues	407
3.2	Article 106(2) TFEU: Services of General Economic Interest and their role as exception	410
3.3	Article 106(3) TFEU: legislative and supervisory powers of the European Commission	415
4	Some reflections on Services of General Economic Interest	416
5	National rules on the state and competition: a few examples	420
5.1	EU Member States	420
5.1.1	France	420
5.1.2	Germany	422
5.1.3	The Netherlands	423
5.2	State action doctrine in the US	424
6	Conclusions	426

12 State aid law	427
1 Introduction	427
2 Article 107(1) TFEU: the ban on state aid	428
2.1 The concept of state aid	428
2.2 State resources	430
2.3 Distortion of competition in the Internal Market	431
2.4 Trade between the Member States	432
2.5 The concept of state aid and Services of General Economic Interest	433
3 Exceptions in EU state aid law	435
3.1 The Treaty exceptions	436
3.1.1 What is the added value of Article 107(2) TFEU?	436
3.1.2 The exception of Article 107(3) TFEU: great relevance	436
3.1.2.1 Overview	437
3.1.2.2 Modernisation	439
3.1.2.3 The Corona crisis	439
3.1.3 Article 106(2) TFEU: Services of General Economic Interest	440
3.2 Block Exemptions	442
3.2.1 The General Block Exemption	444
3.2.2 SGEI as Block Exemption	446
3.2.2.1 The conditions of the SGEI Block Exemption	446
3.2.2.2 The 'bigger picture' of EU state aid law and SGEI	447
4 The enforcement of EU state aid law	449
4.1 Enforcement by the Commission	450
4.2 Enforcement by the domestic courts	453
4.2.1 General observations	453
4.2.2 Procedural issues	454
5 Conclusions	458

PART VI CONCLUSIONS

13 Conclusions: the evolving role of European competition law	460
1 The European and national dimensions of competition law	461
2 Enforcement of the competition rules	462
3 The emergence of digital markets	464
4 Crises and changing global circumstances	465
5 What is European competition law about?	469
Bibliography	470
Index	483