

CONTENTS

Contents

Použité symboly

Úvod

COMMUNICATIVE APPROACH TO LANGUAGE TEACHING

What do we mean by communicative competence?

Components of communicative competence

Characteristics of communicative activities

Implications for language learning and teaching

TEACHING VOCABULARY

What do we mean by knowing a word?

What factors affect vocabulary acquisition?

What are the implications for the teaching of vocabulary?

Multiple intelligences and learning vocabulary

TEACHING GRAMMAR

What is grammar?

How do we learn grammar in a foreign language?

What is covert and overt grammar teaching?

Implications for teaching

GIVING FEEDBACK AND CORRECTING ERRORS

Causes of errors

Interlanguage

Giving feedback

TEACHING SPEAKING

Types of spoken discourse in real life

Features of good users of spoken language

Implications for teaching

TEACHING LISTENING

What makes listening difficult?

What is the nature of listening comprehension?

Implications for teaching

3

5

7

9

9

10

11

11

15

15

16

16

17

21

21

21

22

22

25

25

26

26

29

29

30

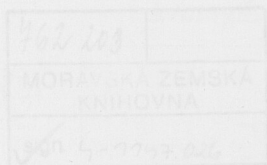

31

35

35

36

36

TEACHING READING*The nature of readingFeatures of good readersImplications for teachingTEACHING WRITINGThe nature of writingResearch into writingImplications for teachingTESTING AND ASSESSMENTTesting and assessmentQuestions for evaluating test itemsEVALUATING TEXTBOOKSCriteria for evaluating textbooksAdapting textbooksKEY*LITERATURE

39

39

39

40

43

43

43

44

47

47

48

51

52

52

55

59

TEACHING GRAMMAR

What is grammar?

How do we learn grammar in a foreign language?

What is a good and what is a bad grammar teaching?

Implications for teaching

GIVING FEEDBACK AND CORRECTING ERRORS

Types of errors

Intervention

Giving feedback

TEACHING SPEAKING

Types of spoken discourse in real life

Features of good tests of spoken language

Implications for teaching

TEACHING LISTENING

What makes listening difficult?

What is the nature of listening comprehension?

Implications for teaching