

Contents:

Preface	III
Acknowledgements	1
Contents	2
Executive summary	4
Migration and integration realities	4
Migration/integration policies and practices	7
1. Brief Historical Overview (1945 – 1989)	8
1.1. Conclusions	11
2. Overall Migration Scales	13
2.1. Direction and size of movements – basic parameters	13
2.2. Motivation, a legal status and duration of stay	23
2.3. Gender and age	26
2.4 The city of Prague – a strong pole of attractiveness for migrants	36
2.5. Future migration stocks and flows	39
2.6. Conclusions	40
3. Factors Contributing to Migration Movement	42
3.1. “Push” and “pull” factors and related labour market issues	42
3.2. Asylum seekers and other forms of protection	47
3.3. Family and other informal links	48
3.4. Ethnic immigration	49
3.5. Irregular migration, including trafficking and smuggling in human beings; irregular labour immigration and the evasion of migratory legislation	50
3.6. Conclusions	55
4. Impact of migration movements on the Czech society	56
4.1. Impact of labour and economic migration, its relation to other aspects	56
4.2. Economic effects of migration	62
4.3. Non-economic effects of migration	62
4.4. Illegal employment and exploitation	64
4.5. Public opinion and perception of migrants and migration; discrimination, xenophobia and other forms of violence against migrants	68
4.6. Conclusions	73
5. Migration policy, legislation and procedures – present situation and planned migration management strategy	75
5.1. Admission	77
5.2. Stay	80
5.3. Return, detention and expulsion	84

5.4. Other area matters	88
5.5. Conclusions	93
6. Integration policies and practices	95
6.1. Particular geographic/administrative concentrations of migrants	95
6.2. Available reception assistance programmes for migrants; specific (re)integration programmes and integration initiatives/best practices	96
6.3. Education and other cultural programmes	101
6.4. Access to health care and other social services	101
6.5. Participation of migrants in civic and political life	103
6.6. Public perception/opinion	104
6.7. Conclusions	104
7. Conclusion and recommendations	105
7.1. Overall migratory trends	105
7.1.1. History	105
7.1.2. Overall migration scales	106
7.1.3. Motivation	107
7.1.4. Immigrants' population structures – social role, education/qualification, gender, age	107
7.1.5. Regional patterns and impact of labour and economic migration (including its conditions)	108
7.1.6. Non-economic effects of migration	108
7.1.7. Public opinion and perception of migrants and migration	109
7.1.8. Cooperation within individual ethnic immigrant groups	109
7.2. The most urgent matters and recommendations for improvement	109
7.2.1. Migration and integration policies and practices	109
7.2.1.1. State bodies	110
7.2.1.2. NGOs	112
7.2.1.3. The EU and international organizations	112
7.3. Future research	113
8. References	115
Appendix I: Foreign children and their integration in Czech schools and Czech society	122
Appendix II: List of interviewed experts – their employer or position - with their identification numbers	126
Appendix III: Maps and Graphs	127